10 SLAIN . . .

Election Terror Rises

Saigon (AP)—Bloody attacks with grenade, gun and torch marked stepped-up efforts by communist terrorists Thursday to sabotage voting for a constituent assembly Sunday. They killed 10 or more Vietnamese and wounded perhaps 30.

Pre-election incidents overshadowed the war in Viet Nam.

Striking in both daylight and darkness, Reds and their agents.

—Slew the village chief and several other Vietnamese from ambush at Binh Hoa, 100 miles south of Saigon. Though advices from the scene indicated at least four died there, the exact toll was not immediately determined.

Agent Assassinated

—Killed one civilian, wounded seven and burned 50 homes in a refugee hamlet 340 miles northeast of this city. Explosions wounded others at political rallies in Saigon, Hue and lesser centers.

The Viet Cong again tried vainly to block the river shipping channel between Saigon and the South China Sea.

While U S officials sought to determine whether sabotage was involved in a $1 million fire that destroyed one American military warehouse and damaged another here before dawn, a communist mine exploded harmlessly about 40 yards from a U.S. Navy minesweeper.

Fierce Clash

In ground fighting, two battalions of Vietnamese infantry clashed fiercely with an enemy force about 260 miles northeast of Saigon Thursday and reported they killed 150 Viet Cong.

Combat losses were down on both sides last week, compared with the week before, and it appeared the Americans and other allies were holding off on big offensive sweeps until after the election.

A false bomb scare contributed to tension. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was among motorists held up in jammed traffic as security men nervously checked out a massive bang. It proved to be the boom from a high-flying jet bursting through the sound barrier.

Plan May Have Prevented Race Trouble At State Fair

The state's major news media, law enforcement officials and State Fair authorities Thursday revealed a plan which officials said may have prevented racial trouble at the State Fair, which closed Thursday.

Repeated and widespread rumors had it that paid troublemakers, supposedly from Omaha, Wichita, Kan., Sioux City, Iowa, and Kansas City, were to be in Lincoln to create trouble.

Newsmen, in cooperation with fair authorities and police officials, refused to print the rumors. Law enforcement groups, including the state Safety Patrol, the Lincoln Police Department and the Lancaster County Sheriff's office, made extensive preparations for possible trouble. The National Guard was notified.

Officials believe the preparations may have been responsible for the lack of any violence at the Fair.

Lamb Spared, Too

Another act of violence, of a different nature, was also avoided: the grand champion lamb, usually swiftly turned into lamb chops after the fair, was granted a reprieve.

Its buyer, John DeCamp of Neligh, donated the lamb to the Lincoln Association for Retarded Children (LARC) School as a pet for the children.

It was the first time in fair history that a grand champion has been spared from the slaughterhouse.

Vickie Jorgensen, from whom DeCamp bought the lamb, said she was, "oh, so very happy at the news. I can't believe it, it's so wonderful."

"Chub," grand champion 4-H market steer, sold for $2 a pound to Cooper Feeds of Humboldt, bringing $2,272 for its owner, Jackie Dobesh. She wept when she parted from the champion.

For More On Fair . . .
. . . See Pages 5, 6, 23.

But there was no weeping among fair officials. Manager Henry Brandt announced that Thursday's 15,000 attendance established a record, breaking the previous mark, set last year. This year's fair drew 418,000, last year's 415,000.

Most of the thousands who jammed the fairgrounds were unaware of the rumors of racial trouble and the behind-the-scenes preparations which were going on.

Tear gas, riot sticks and riot helmets were obtained. Various law enforcement agencies held special training sessions. Lincoln police were prepared to use more than a third of their total force should trouble develop.

A so-called tactical platoon of officers under the command of Inspector Robert Sawdon was alerted and prepared to respond rapidly. All members of the force maintained around-the clock contact with the department.

State Safety Patrol officers circulated through the Fairgrounds with portable two-way radios. National Guard units and authorities were available.

Newsmen, who faced a barrage of questions about the riot rumors, worked closely with law enforcement officials and fair authorities. It was agreed that only reports which were "extremely reliable and could be proved" would be printed. Not a line appeared in any metropolitan newspaper.

The most persistent rumor was that trouble was planned for Labor Day, always a day of huge attendance. When that day ended fair officials sighed with relief.

An even bigger sigh was issued when the fair closed Thursday at 11 p.m.

Requests Lifting Of Tax Incentive

. . . SENDS CONGRESS MESSAGE

Washington (AP) — Describing the business investment boom as exaggerated, President Johnson called Thursday for quick congressional action to shift the economy into a lower gear by removing temporarily the tax incentive for businessmen to invest in new plant and equipment.

He coupled his appeal with a new pledge to cut federal spending for low priority programs and again asked labor and management to forego wage and price increases which would add to inflation.

Write-Offs Too

At a news conference in his office, the President outlined his proposal to suspend for 16 months the 7% investment tax credit voted by Congress in 1962 to stimulate the economy and the special tax write-offs Congress approved in 1954.

He dispatched to Congress at the same time a surprise message requesting that the special business incentives be lifted until Jan. 1, 1968.

Suspension of the investment tax credit would apply only to orders placed since Sept. 1. It would not apply to orders for machinery and equipment already on the books as of that date.

The tax credit applies not only to equipment and machinery purchased by industry but also to farm production equipment such as tractors. It does not apply to investments in livestock.

Congress To Hear

Prompt consideration by Congress was assured.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said the House Ways and Means Committee will begin hearings Monday on the presidential tax package.

The package seemed assured of a friendly reception in the Senate Finance Committee. Its chairman, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said the committee will consider Johnson's proposals at an early date.

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told the Senate that Democratic leaders in Congress had been consulted in advance and had assured Johnson of their cooperation.

In his message to Congress, Johnson hinted strongly that he would propose no increase in corporation or individual income taxes this year but left the door open to this possibility.

But he said no further action can be taken until his administration knows exactly how much money Congress will appropriate this year and the extra money the Defense Department might need to fight the Viet Nam war.

Suspension of the 7% investment tax credit and the accelerated depreciation would increase government revenues by more than $2 billion.

The Federal Reserve Board, which has borne a major share of the burden of holding inflation in check, welcomed the President's announcement and said the program should curb some of the extraordinary demands for goods, services and credit that have been forcing up both prices and interest rates.

Many board members have urged the administration to raise taxes or suspend the investment credit.

The investment tax credit permits businessmen to deduct from their total federal tax up to 7% of the cost of new equipment.

The administration has been under pressure as far back as last winter to raise taxes, cut federal spending or suspend the investment tax credit.

Pressures subsided in late spring and early summer but reached a new peak last week after former President Harry S. Truman said high interest rates could lead the nation into a depression.

Johnson said he was concerned with high interest but disagreed with Truman's conclusion.

British Police Not Taking Up Arms

Bramshill, England (UPI) — Police officials meeting here have decided against issuing arms to police officers despite the murder of three plainclothes detectives Aug. 12.

British police have traditionally been unarmed on the theory criminals will remain gunless if police are.

Malignant Tumor Possibly Behind Sniper's Rampage, Experts Say

Austin, Tex. (AP)—A blue ribbon panel of experts said Thursday that a highly malignant brain tumor conceivably sparked Charles J. Whitman's Aug. 1 murder outburst.

The 32-man task force also said Whitman took pep pills to keep up in his studies but they found no evidence he was under the influence of stimulating drugs Aug. 1 when he killed 16 and wounded 30 others.

The expert panel said it did not have enough evidence to make a formal psychiatric diagnosis of Whitman.

Whitman, 25, a big blond ex-Boy Scout, killed his wife and mother, then climbed to the observation deck on the University of Texas tower and gunned down 14 others before police shot him to death after the 1½-hour murder rampage.

30 Wounded

Thirty other persons suffered wounds, mostly from a high powered deer rifle with powerful aiming scope. Two victims are still hospitalized.

Mr. Kenneth Earl, neuropathologist of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, Washington, D.C., said the brain tumor would have "eventually produced the man's death within the span of a year if he lived."

"It is the opinion of the task force that the relationship between the brain tumor and Charles J. Whitman's actions on the last day of his life cannot be established with clarity," the 16-page report said.

"However, the highly malignant brain tumor conceivably could have contributed to his inability to control his emotions and actions."

Other conclusions of the report said Whitman "was living under conditions of increasing personal stress from which he felt he could not escape and which he could not master . . . was prone to impulsive actions and loss of control at times . . ."

Whitman, 25, a big-blond "despite reasonably good grades, had not chosen academic pursuits for which he was best equipped and he experienced much difficulty in the abstraction of ideas and organization of his studies.

"He took stimulating drugs to assist him in keeping academic deadline, the net effect of which was further loss of efficiency and a decrease in clarity of thinking at these times. However, there is no evidence of acute or chronic toxicity on Aug. 1, 1966."

Flood Control Study OKd For Loup Basin

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission Thursday approved plans to launch a massive flood control study for the Loup River basin covering 29 counties.

Emmett Lee of Spaulding, a commission member, outlined the proposed study project that would eventually lead to a flood control program for the Loup River and its tributaries.

The state commission would coordinate the study between the various state and federal agencies and provide financal assistance.

The Loup River Basin Association would include some 60 representatives of county boards, soil and water shed districts, municipalities, and other organizations involved, according to Lee, who is temporary chairman. Dr. F. B. Brown, a Genoa dentist, is temporary secretary.

Warren Fairchild, the commission's executive secretary, said, "A great deal of study of the Loup basin has already been done, but more is needed to implement a comprehensive program."

He said the application would cover the earlier request for a Lower Loup basin study as a more comprehensive program.

The commission also approved the watershed planning application for Stevens-Callahan Creeks watershed in Lancaster, Cass and Saunders Counties.

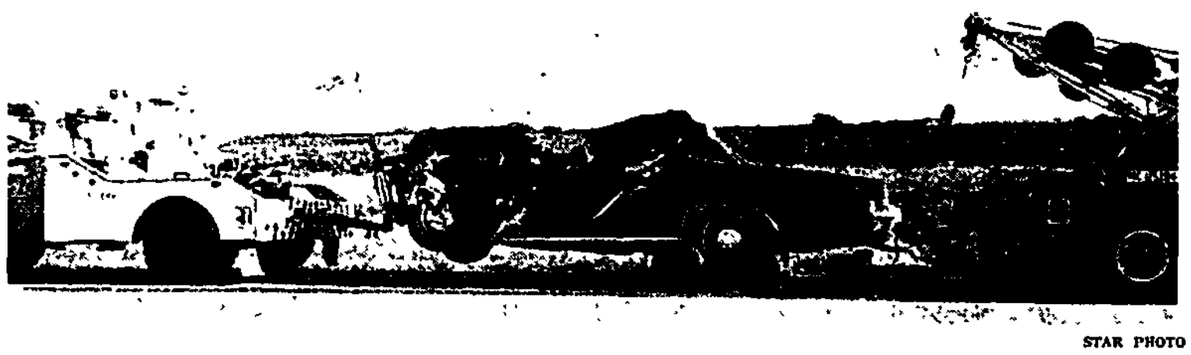

The project was requested under the same federal program as was the Salt Creek Watershed.

The project envisions retention dams, land treatment and channel work in the preliminary plan, but is subject to a comprehensive federal study.

The commission estimated that there is a 15-year backlog of watershed applications pending federal approval and Congressional funding.

Car Crash Kills NU Coed, Hurts Another

One University of Nebraska coed was killed and another seriously injured in an accident Thursday afternoon four miles east of the Waverly interchange on Interstate 80.

The victim was Lynn Broyhill of Dakota City, a senior at the University and vice president of Pi Beta Phi sorority. In critical condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital was the driver of the car, Jean Higgins of Schuyler, also a senior and a member of Pi Beta Phi.

The accident occurred when the eastbound car occupied by the two coeds struck the right rear of a state maintenance truck parked along the inside of the eastbound lane, and bounced into the path of another eastbound car, according to Deputy County Atty. Ron Lahners.

The driver of the state maintenance truck, Fred Borchers, 59, of 2933 No. 45th, and the driver of the second car, Ken Powell, 19, of Fremont, were uninjured.

A passenger in the Powell car, Mark Frazier, 19, of Springfield, also escaped injury. Both Powell and Frazier are University students and members of Sigma Chi Fraternity. Both are sophomores.

Miss Broyhill was a member of the Union Hospitality Committee, the Union Talks and Topics Committee, the Cadence Countesses, the Kernels and Tassels, and was a past Nebraska Grand Worthy Advisor of Rainbow Girls.

In April of 1966 she was named Nebraska's Cherry Blossom Princess and had represented the state in the national Cherry Blossom Festival at Washington, D.C.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Broyhill of Dakota City.

Rights Attack Starts

World News

Washington (AP)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., opened a fullscale Southern assault on the administration's 1966 civil rights bill Thursday as the twice-deferred debate got under way.

Striking at its most controversial feature, a partial ban on racial discrimination in housing, Thurmond said the bill would involve a frontal assault on the American system of property rights

Thurmond, a former Democrat who turned Republican in 1964, took the floor after Senate leaders succeeded briefly in assembling the required quorum of 51 members.

He discussed the bill for over an hour. Then the Senate, largely deserted again, recessed until Friday noon.

Twice before this week the Senate was forced to take an overnight recess when not enough senators responded to quorum calls to fill out the necessary majority and enable a start on the debate.

The last time the threat of arrest was used to round up missing senators was during debate on a rent control extension bill in June 1950. The Senate voted 29 to 15 then to order the sergeant at arms to serve arrest warrants on absent senators.

Gemini 11 Set To Go Into Orbit

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP)—Pilots and rockets ready, America's newest space spectacular sailed past final hurdles Thursday with not a hitch in sight to keep Gemini 11's two astronauts from racing skyward Friday for three bold days in orbit.

"Go" signals flickered throughout the globe-circling tracking network and aboard recovery ships at sea. The all-clear came from top level officials after a final clearance review with pilots Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr.

"Everything, even the weather, appears to be go," said William C. Schneider, director of the complex rendezvous, link-up and spacewalk mission—next to last in the nation's two-man series.

Gemini 11, which is to carry the two longtime friends 44 times around the world has one of the most exotic flight plans yet in the U.S space program. Daring and complex, as America nears its man-to-the-moon project, the mission calls for:

—The world's quickest rendezvous, with Gemini 11, in Conrad's words, "climbing like a bullet" to catch, then link with an Agena rocket before the astronauts flash one time around the globe.

—Two excursions outside the tiny spaceship by Gordon on his first space flight. Gordon will walk in space for 107 minutes, doing a variety of tasks. Later, he will stand with all but his legs poked outside for 140 minutes of scientific picture-taking.

—A world record altitude of 863 miles. Using the powerful engine of the captured Agena rocket, Gemini 11 plans to shoot to a high point of 863 miles.

Preaching Of 'Power' Hits Spot

By AUSTIN SCOTT

New York (AP)—The applause within the Harlem church was frequent, almost deafening. Even from the street, through heavy wooden doors closed to keep out whites, cries of "that's right," and "preach, brother," could be heard.

But many of the remarks tumbling rapidly from the lips of the slender young Negro behind the pulpit microphone were sharply at odds with the religious setting.

"This country is moving to destroy black people," he shouted to waves of applause. "We cannot afford to be part of the American system . . . We have to destroy Western civilization . . . Integration is just a trick bag . . . Nothing counts but power . . . We have to hook up with the people of the third world . . ."

The bundle of thoughts that 25-year-old Stokely Carmichael hurled at his listeners also included a great deal of love—love of black people for themselves, their families, their communities, their culture.

Love For Nonwhites

But despite his statement in an interview July 6 that black power does not mean anti-white, love was clearly reserved for nonwhites.

"We got to start loving ourselves because we are black," he said. ". . . We don't have to lose our blackness to become equal with white savages . . ." His cheering audience rocked the wooden floor with stamping feet.

On his first extensive tour of Northern slums as chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, handsome young Carmichael found a receptive audience for "black power," his battle cry for Negro militance and self-determination.

He said shortly after he was elected in June that civil rights movements "weren't even talking to black people in the ghettoes but were in fact gearing their programs to what white liberals thought should be done.

"For once," he said, "we've gotten enough strength to talk to our black people who need to be talked to. Everybody in the country talks about them. No one talks to them." That's what he is trying to do.

His Harlem audience happened to be a fund-raising rally. It might as well have been the cheering crowd in Jersey City, N.J., the night before, or the standing-room only crowd in a stuffy, second floor room in Newark, or the thousand Negroes who blocked a Philadelphia street.

Trinidad-born, but raised in Harlem and the Bronx, Carmichael is one of the new SNCC leaders whose roots are in the valleys of the big cities, not the dusty villages of the rural South.

While his radical statements catch the headlines, they are by no means all that Carmichael is trying to say to "black people"—he shuns the word "Negro," using it as a term of derision.

He preaches that Negroes must analyze the world around them, must understand the workings of both foreign policy and the white businessman next door, must save their money and use it to help themselves.

Five Redwood Firms Agree To Quit Axing

Washington (AP)— Five lumber companies agreed Thursday to quit cutting prime redwood trees in the northern California area being considered for a Redwoods National Park.

Sens. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., announced the agreement and said it covers both the Mill Creek area advocated by the Johnson administration for a park and the Redwood Creek area proposed by the Sierra Club.

The agreements, Jackson said, were advanced voluntarily and at no cost to the government by the Rellim-Miller Redwood Co., the Arcata Redwood Co., Simpson Timber Co., Georgia-Pacific Corp. and Pacific Redwood Co.

Sheppard Shouts He's 'Not Guilty'

Cleveland (AP)—A bit grayer and a little heavier, Samuel H. Sheppard returned Thursday to the courtroom where he was tried 12 years ago and shouted "not guilty" to a new charge in the old crime — murder of his first wife, Marilyn.

Asked why he spoke so loudly, the 42-year-old former osteopath, who served more than nine years in Ohio Penitentiary after his first-trial conviction, answered:

"I've always shouted I'm not guilty—many times. I've always said it that loud, but nobody would listen."

Sheppard, his blonde second wife, Arlane, and his 19-year-old son Chip, arrived in the small courtroom a half hour before the arraignment began. In the interval, Sheppard joined his wife in the first row of the unfilled spectator section and shared a chocolate bar with her.

During the 25-minute arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Roy F. McMahon the 1954 indictment against Sheppard for first-degree murder was amended to make the charge second-degree. A new bond of $10,000 was set.

Johnson Signs Mass Transit Bill

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson Thursday signed a two-year, $300 million mass transit bill designed, he said, to "do something about that daily horror known as the rush hour."

And he appointed Leo J. Cusick, former assistant general superintendent of the New York City transit authority, as Washington's expert adviser to cities struggling to unsnarl traffic jams.

As deputy assistant secretary of housing and urban development, Cusick will oversee administration of the extended mass transit program Congress originally approved in 1964 to help public and private transport companies improve facilities and add new services.

Secret Court Holds Assassin

Cape Town, South Africa (UPI) — Bible-quoting Dimitri Tsafendas, who assassinated Prime Minister Hendrick Verwoerd, appeared secretly before a specially convened magistrates court Thursday and was ordered held in custody until Oct. 6.

Authorities said the proceedings were held in secret because "we do not want a repetition of what happened in Texas between Lee Oswald and Jack Ruby."

U.S. Battle Deaths Pass 5,000 Mark

Saigon (UPI) — American combat deaths in the Viet Nam war have risen to more than 5,000, it was learned Thursday.

U.S. officials said 74 more Americans were killed in combat during the week ending last Saturday, boosting the official toll of the war to 4,993. They added that it was a "safe assumption" that combat deaths had passed the 5,000 mark since then.

In addition to the 74 Americans killed last week, 570 more were wounded and 10 others captured or otherwise missing in action.

Vietnamese forces lost 109 men killed, 309 wounded and 23 missing. Other allied forces —Australians, Koreans and New Zealanders — had four men killed and 15 wounded.

But the communists suffered a heavier toll. The kill ratio for the week was 4.7, which means that many of the enemy were killed for every allied combat death.

The Viet Cong toll was 885 killed and 169 wounded.

Ky Jokes He May Seek Presidency

Saigon (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky turned 36 Thursday and roundabout remarks on a birthday barnstorming trip put him back on the list of possible candidates for president of the new government due to be formed next year.

The air vice marshal who has run South Viet Nam for 14 months acted like a candidate on a visit to Tay Ninh, a provincial capital.

Reminded by newsmen that Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state who was his choice for the presidency, has said he doesn't want the job, Ky was asked who was his second choice.

"Second choice," he said with a smile. "Me."

The premier qualified that immediately by saying it was a joke. And his wife, smilingly tugging at his sleeve, said: "No please. I want him to go back to his job in the air force."

But it is of such offhanded things that Vietnamese politics are made. And Ky's prominence would assure him of high consideration.

Ky also used the occasion to make his most scathing comments yet on French President Charles de Gaulle's efforts to neutralize South Viet Nam.

He said De Gaulle is a colonialist who hates the United States so much he wants to see it fail in South Viet Nam.

Rights Attack Starts

World News

Washington (AP)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., opened a fullscale Southern assault on the administration's 1966 civil rights bill Thursday as the twice-deferred debate got under way.

Striking at its most controversial feature, a partial ban on racial discrimination in housing, Thurmond said the bill would involve a frontal assault on the American system of property rights.

Thurmond, a former Democrat who turned Republican in 1964, took the floor after Senate leaders succeeded briefly in assembling the required quorum of 51 members.

He discussed the bill for over an hour. Then the Senate, largely deserted again, recessed until Friday noon.

Twice before this week the Senate was forced to take an overnight recess when not enough senators responded to quorum calls to fill out the necessary majority and enable a start on the debate.

The last time the threat of arrest was used to round up missing senators was during debate on a rent control extension bill in June 1950. The Senate voted 29 to 15 then to order the sergeant at arms to serve arrest warrants on absent senators.

Gemini 11 Set To Go Into Orbit

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP)—Pilots and rockets ready, America's newest space spectacular sailed past final hurdles Thursday with not a hitch in sight to keep Gemini 11's two astronauts from racing skyward Friday for three bold days in orbit.

"Go" signals flickered throughout the globe-circling tracking network and aboard recovery ships at sea. The all-clear came from top level officials after a final clearance review with pilots Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr.

"Everything, even the weather, appears to be go," said William C. Schneider, director of the complex rendezvous, link-up and spacewalk mission—next to last in the nation's two-man series.

Gemini 11, which is to carry the two longtime friends 44 times around the world, has one of the most exotic flight plans yet in the U.S. space program. Daring and complex, as America nears its man-to-the-moon project, the mission calls for:

—The world's quickest rendezvous, with Gemini 11, in Conrad's words, "climbing like a bullet" to catch, then link with an Agena rocket before the astronauts flash one time around the globe.

—Two excursions outside the tiny spaceship by Gordon on his first space flight. Gordon will walk in space for 107 minutes, doing a variety of tasks. Later, he will stand with all but his legs poked outside for 140 minutes of scientific picture-taking.

—A world record altitude of 863 miles. Using the powerful engine of the captured Agena rocket, Gemini 11 plans to shoot to a high point of 863 miles.

By AUSTIN SCOTT

New York (AP)—The applause within the Harlem church was frequent, almost deafening. Even from the street, through heavy wooden doors closed to keep out whites, cries of "that's right," and "preach, brother," could be heard.

But many of the remarks tumbling rapidly from the lips of the slender young Negro behind the pulpit microphone were sharply at odds with the religious setting.

"This country is moving to destroy black people," he shouted to waves of applause. "We cannot afford to be part of the American system . . . We have to destroy Western civilization . . . Integration is just a trick bag . . . Nothing counts but power . . . We have to hook up with the people of the third world . . ."

The bundle of thoughts that 25-year-old Stokely Carmichael hurled at his listeners also included a great deal of love—love of black people for themselves, their families, their communities, their culture.

Love For Nonwhites

But despite his statement in an interview July 6 that black power does not mean anti-white, love was clearly reserved for nonwhites.

"We got to start loving ourselves because we are black," he said. ". . . We don't have to lose our blackness to become equal with white savages . . ." His cheering audience rocked the wooden floor with stamping feet.

Stoll's Elwood Weather Records Span 60 Years

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Nary a raindrop or snowflake in the last 60 years plus has fallen without his notice.

Last October he was honored by the U.S. Weather Bureau and the Elwood Chamber of Commerce for 60 years of voluntary weather observation.

As an official weather observer, he's one of 13,000 in the country; as a 60-year man, he's one of three living.

"It's something you just get in the habit of doing," says Stoll nonchalantly. "I like to do it, and I plan to keep it up as long as I'm physically able."

Patriotic Duty

"Everyone owes something to his country free of charge," he said. "I'm glad I had the chance to contribute in this way."

Stoll's records go back to 1905, when he was 18 and already tilling the soil on the farm his father moved to when Ed was a babe of a year and a half.

A neighbor had been filling out the bureau's forms for a couple of years, but was leaving the area.

"He brought his instruments to me and said, 'Here's a job.'"

Since then Stoll has sent his weekly report card—listing daily rainfall, snow, wind, hail, temperatures and anything else the central Nebraska atmosphere dished out—to Lincoln and the monthly report to Topeka, Kan.

"Whenever we get over a half inch at one time, I call Republican City and report it," he added.

Can Pinpoint Extremes

From his copy of the reports, he can pinpoint the extremes of the last three-score years.

Off the cuff, he can tell you that this summer was hot—109 on July 18—but not equal to the record 112. The coldest it ever got on his farm southwest of Elwood was a minus-32.

Interested in moisture? Try the high of 36.64 inches in 1915 or the dry 12.37 in 1934.

Stoll says his books will also indicate a long-range weather change. "The seasons seem to be later than they used to be," he noted.

The spry 78-year-old observer has a new, engraved rain gauge from the testimonial ogauge from the testimonial banquet, but he's still using the old one.

"I want to keep the other one new because everyone wants to see it," he explains.

Typical '80 Nebraska Farm May Double Size Of Today's

. . . NU Ag Economist Predicting

Alliance (AP)—A forecast of major developments in Nebraska farming in the next few years was made Thursday by a University of Nebraska agricultural economist.

In an address to the managers and directors of Production Credit Associations in western Nebraska, Dr. Clayton Yeutter visualized the evolution of the Nebraska farm situation by 1980.

The typical 1980 Nebraska farm will be at least twice as large as today's, according to Yeutter. This increased farm size will cause a large reduction in the number of farms. However, land prices will rise, often without economic justification, thus making land a relatively poor investment unless the farmer can operate the land he buys.

Seen As Corn-Belt Leader

Dr. Yeutter predicted that Nebraska, by 1980, will be well on its way to becoming the leading agricultural state in the Corn Belt. Intensified production through livestock feeding will enormously increase total gross income for the state and its farmers.

Direct selling of livestock on a grade and yield basis will virtually replace the traditional central market, he said.

The number of corporate farms will gradually increase, but present farm structure will be prevalent. The "typical" farm will be a two man unit—the operator and a full-time hired hand. Many more operators will have college degrees and hired hands will be almost assistant managers. Hired hands will be much more capable and paid at least twice the average 1966 farm worker's salary. On a return per man basis, the very large farms will achieve few operational economies that cannot also be achieved by a well organized two or three man unit.

Farm management will become more sophisticated, according to Dr. Yeutter, with hundreds of farms participating in electronic records projects and using linear programming to make major management decisions. Custom operations will increase, as will the farmer's machinery investment as he buys fewer but larger pieces.

Words, Deeds Choice Awaits State's Voters

. . . Says Hruska

Norfolk (AP)—Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., said Thursday voters in the November senatorial election will have "a choice between words and deeds."

He said the choice was between Sen. Carl T. Curtis' "proven record of leadership and achievement in 27 years in the Congress" and Gov. Frank Morrison's "inability to even reach a timely decision, much less solve a governmental problem."

Hruska said Morrison:

—Applauded Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's announcement of agreements with Australia and New Zealand guaranteeing increased imports from those countries, then attempted to reverse his position "after he comprehended the enormity of his blunder."

—Promised to use his influence with then Senate President Hubert Humphrey and President Johnson if necessary to do something about the boxcar shortage, but that Johnson and Humphrey let a Curtis - Hruska bill which would have provided more boxcars die on the Senate calendar.

Corn, Soybean And Oats Support Rates Revealed

Basic price support rates on 1966 corn will range from 93 cents to $1.02 per bushel in Nebraska's counties, the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service reported Thursday.

These basic rates do not include the 30 cent per bushel price support payment also provided corn growers.

The Nebraska county rates are based on a national average loan rate of $1 per bushel. Augmented by the 30 cent price support payment, the national average support price thus becomes $1.30.

Last year the basic loan rates ranged from 98 cents to $1.07 per bushel in Nebraska counties. The price support payment then was 20 cents for a national average overall support price of $1.25.

The ASCS also announced that basic soybean support rates will range in Nebraska counties from $2.36 to $2.43 per bushel, based on a national average rate was $2.25 and the basic rates in Nebraska counties ranged from $2.13 to $2.18 per bushel.

The new oats loan and purchase rates, based on a national average price support rate of 60 cents per bushel, range in Nebraska counties from 58 to 62 cents per bushel.

The period during which corn growers can take out government loans on the crop ends next June 30.

$1.02—Sioux, Scotts Bluff, Banner, Kimball, Morrill
$1.01—Dawes, Box Butte, Cheyenne, Deuel
$1.00—Sheridan, Garden, Keith
99 cents—Arthur, Perkins, Chase, Dundy, Hitchcock, Hayes

SNCC Leader Carmichael Is Arrested

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Stokely Carmichael, National chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was arrested Thursday night and jailed on two charges in connection with Tuesday's riot in southeast Atlanta.

Detective Supt. Clinton Chafin said Carmichael was arrested at SNCC headquarters. He said Carmichael was being held under $10,000 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct-inciting to riot and under $1,000 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct-disturbing the peace.

"He offered no resistance," Chafin said. "He will be given a hearing at 8:30 a.m., tomorrow (Friday)."

The arrest came as police relaxed rigid restrictions in the riot area and Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. said he believes the threat of further disorder is past.

Stoll's Elwood Weather Records Span 60 Years

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Nary a raindrop or snowflake in the last 60 years plus has fallen without his notice.

Last October he was honored by the U.S. Weather Bureau and the Elwood Chamber of Commerce for 60 years of voluntary weather observation.

As an official weather observer, he's one of 13,000 in the country; as a 60-year man, he's one of three living.

"It's something you just get in the habit of doing," says Stoll nonchalantly. "I like to do it, and I plan to keep it up as long as I'm physically able."

Patriotic Duty

"Everyone owes something to his country free of charge," he said. "I'm glad I had the chance to contribute in this way."

Stoll's records go back to 1905, when he was 18 and already tilling the soil on the farm his father moved to when Ed was a babe of a year and a half.

A neighbor had been filling out the bureau's forms for a couple of years, but was leaving the area.

"He brought his instruments to me and said, 'Here's a job.' "

Since then Stoll has sent his weekly report card—listing daily rainfall, snow, wind, hail, temperatures and anything else the central Nebraska atmosphere dished out—to Lincoln and the monthly report to Topeka, Kan.

"Whenever we get over a half inch at one time, I call Republican City and report it," he added.

Can Pinpoint Extremes

Off the cuff, he can tell you that this summer was hot—109 on July 18—but not equal to the record 112. The coldest it ever got on his farm southwest of Elwood was a minus-32.

Interested in moisture? Try the high of 36.64 inches in 1915 or the dry 12.37 in 1934.

Stoll says his books will also indicate a long-range weather change. "The seasons seem to be later than they used to be," he noted.

The spry 78-year-old observer has a new, engraved rain gauge from the testimonial ogauge from the testimonial banquet, but he's still using the old one.

"I want to keep the other one new because everyone wants to see it," he explains.

Typical '80 Nebraska Farm May Double Size Of Today's

. . . NU Ag Economist Predicting

Alliance (AP)—A forecast of major developments in Nebraska farming in the next few years was made Thursday by a University of Nebraska agricultural economist.

In an address to the managers and directors of Production Credit Associations in western Nebraska, Dr. Clayton Yeutter visualized the evolution of the Nebraska farm situation by 1980.

The typical 1980 Nebraska farm will be at least twice as large as today's, according to Yeutter. This increased farm size will cause a large reduction in the number of farms. However, land prices will rise, often without economic justification, thus making land a relatively poor investment unless the farmer can operate the land he buys.

Seen As Corn-Belt Leader

Dr. Yeutter predicted that Nebraska, by 1980, will be well on its way to becoming the leading agricultural state in the Corn Belt. Intensified production through livestock feeding will enormously increase total gross income for the state and its farmers.

Direct selling of livestock on a grade and yield basis will virtually replace the traditional central market, he said.

The number of corporate farms will gradually increase, but present farm structure will be prevalent. The "typical" farm will be a two man unit—the operator and a full-time hired hand. Many more operators will have college degrees and hired hands will be almost assistant managers. Hired hands will be much more capable and paid at least twice the average 1966 farm worker's salary. On a return per man basis, the very large farms will achieve few operational economies that cannot also be achieved by a well organized two or three man unit.

Farm management will become more sophisticated, according to Dr. Yeutter, with hundreds of farms participating in electronic records projects and using linear programming to make major management decisions. Custom operations will increase, as will the farmer's machinery investment as he buys fewer but larger pieces.

Words, Deeds Choice Awaits State's Voters

. . . Says Hruska

Norfolk (AP)—Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., said Thursday voters in the November senatorial election will have "a choice between words and deeds."

He said the choice was between Sen. Carl T. Curtis' "proven record of leadership and achievement in 27 years in the Congress" and Gov. Frank Morrison's "inability to even reach a timely decision, much less solve a governmental problem."

Hruska said Morrison:

—Applauded Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's announcement of agreements with Australia and New Zealand guaranteeing increased imports from those countries, then attempted to reverse his position "after he comprehended the enormity of his blunder."

—Promised to use his influence with then Senate President Hubert Humphrey and President Johnson if necessary to do something about the boxcar shortage, but that Johnson and Humphrey let a Curtis - Hruska bill which would have provided more boxcars die on the Senate calendar.

—Charged "politics" and "an attempt at the impossible" when Curtis introduced a bill to provide for a bridge over the Missouri River at South Sioux City, "yet he somehow didn't think it was politics or impossible when his Democratic associate, Congressman Callan, introduced similar legislation in the House 196 days later." Hruska said Morrison had authority to act in the bridge situation but did nothing but talk about it with Iowa Gov. Harold Hughes, also a Democrat.

Institutions Need Help

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A proposal by Gov. Frank Morrison to establish and fill a medical director's position in the State Department of Institutions is one that should receive enthusiastic endorsement. Nebraska institutions, particularly those in areas of mental health and rehabilitation, have a general characteristic of adequate administration but weak professional standing.

The reason for this is two-fold. First, the character of care in both areas of things has changed drastically in recent years. Rather than care, the emphasis now is on treatment and cure, custodial operations being as outmoded as high button shoes. The second reason for this is the stringent financial position in which institutions consistently find themselves. The two things are interwoven with both of them working against the best interest of Nebraska and certainly against the welfare of those who find themselves as patients of the state.

Against Our Welfare

Drunkenness, for instance, has long been considered an illness rather than a strictly personal weakness. Recently, it is becoming apparent that drunkenness can no longer be treated even as a crime, that the drunkard cannot simply be placed in jail or sentenced in any way as a common criminal.

Yet, Nebraska does precious little in this field, treating the alcoholic at best as a case in which there is simply no hope. We really have no medically advanced program at the state level to assist in this critical and humane area of society. This is an area where we should be doing much more than we now are.

Criticism has been directed from time to time at the rehabilitation efforts of various state agencies. While not totally an institutional matter, it is very possible that a more professionally oriented program in the institutions would be a stimulant to improvement of efforts along these lines in all areas. As for the care of mental patients, there are few who are without any reservations on this score. Nebraska has achieved considerable prominence in the past as a result of improved techniques in the care of the mentally ill but it has not seemed to move from this earlier beginning. Our institutions consistently are on the fringe when it comes to medical accreditation, a problem that was shown in connection with Lincoln State Hospital's efforts at meeting Medicare requirements.

It is a problem that is shown in the difficulty of hiring a professional psychiatric staff and in the area of ward aids at the institutions. With starting salaries as low as $200 a month, the institutions have found the ranks of ward aids shrinking to an all but hopeless point. It seems that the two things go together — salaries and professional standing or guidance. The new post of medical director could be of great assistance in this matter. It would mean a competent analysis of the problem and the establishment of recognized objectives in the care and treatment of institutional patients. With such an effort, the salary scale would be improved because we would come to better recognize and understand the needs that exist.

Nebraska at this stage of things has at least three major areas of public concern. These three things are higher education, highways and institutions. There are many other important matters such as recreation and conservation and industrial growth but all of them involve at least some mixture of public and private effort and none of them can claim the priority considerations of the top three.

This is not even to mention the matter of penal institutions which is one that could well be discussed. In our penal affairs, we have been most fortunate in having a penitentiary warden, Maurice Sigler, who is an outstanding penologist and has given Nebraska one of the most trouble-free such operations as there is in the nation.

But things are happening in penal work, too, and Nebraska ought to be taking greater cognizance of them than we are. We are not nearly as strong in rehabilitation of penal inmates as we should be, a fact that Warden Sigler is aware of but one he finds difficult to deal with in light of a constant shortage of funds. He would welcome more clinical emphasis on the care of those men who come under his responsibility. The program suggested by Governor Morrison is one that could avoid for the state a great many difficulties in the future.

Rehabilitation Emphasis

It is a program that has the possibility of again placing this state in a position of institutional leadership. It is a recognition of the trend of development throughout institutional work that all states will eventually have to face. We would be farsighted to make now the modest start that is suggested by the governor with the creation of a new post of medical director.

Basic Chinese Line

The purge inside Red China and that country's falling out with Russia centers on the accusation by the communist leaders there of revisionism on the part of their enemies. This is a term that has no real political meaning to us but it is a significant one in world affairs today.

It helps to explain to a very great degree just why we are in Viet Nam and why we must remain there. The term is one that applies to one's attitude toward revolution. In the Red Chinese view, it is the teaching of communism to spread revolution by force and it is on this point that they are in conflict with the Soviet Union.

Russia subscribes, through an evolution in her own thinking, to a policy of peaceful coexistence and the eventual evolution of political systems into communism. Red China is just the opposite, believing that the success of communism depends upon revolution by the people against their government — a process that is to be encouraged through subversion and even armed assistance.

Thus, official and undisputed Red China policy is the conquest of free nations through the very means being used now against South Viet Nam. It is almost ridiculous in view of such a situation that anyone would argue that the Viet Nam conflict could be ended if we withdrew our troops.

Significantly, many who advocate our withdrawal are ominously silent as to the consequences of such action. This is because they know in reality that withdrawal would mean a Red Chinese victory. Thus, withdrawal means defeat, means to turn all of Viet Nam over to communism, and one seriously doubts that this is in the thinking of very many of the American people.

Not At The Heart Of It

Once again State Water Resources Director Dan Jones is confronted by petitions to require the Loup and Platte Valley Power and Irrigation Districts to broaden the representation on their boards of directors.

The petitioners point to the fact that Loup and Platte provide electric power that serves more than 50 Nebraska counties and, therefore, should be more representative than they now are in naming the agencies' directors.

As an argument in democratic action there is some merit in the request. But there is little in the move that would correct the electric problems of the districts. Moreover, it is a fact that both districts divide their attention between electric power production and irrigation. And many of the 50 counties served electrically do not practice, have little knowledge of, or interest in, irrigation. It is questionable in this sense whether non-irrigating representatives would be a boon.

But as we say, trifling with the manner of electing directors could not hurt or help the districts greatly. And in the matter of solving whatever electric problems we may have it would be more like a merchant deciding to paint his home in order to relieve his mind of the worries of bad business at the store. It will relieve his mind some, but it won't help his business any.

The Nebraska experience in electric power is not at all unique. Our demand has outgrown our reserves and our transmission lines and the same has happened in every part of the country. The major districts here fought too much among themselves and built too little. But this vice has not taken us to a point of crisis. And it is a problem in management, not in democratic processes.

Even The Children

It is unsafe these days to question the new trend in education because it reflects the general national philosophy.

But we do think there is too much do or die in it. The kindergartener today approaches the classroom like a professional football player, as if his life depended upon it. He is fed thoughts of head start, of challenge, and he is told that science is not a noun but a verb. He does not contemplate science. He must work at it constantly.

What has become of the leisure of childhood, the relaxation of wandering through a grassy meadow or lying under a tree? What are we doing to our children? What are we doing to ourselves?

Let us reflect. We have never achieved more than in the period since World War II. Our gross national product is triple what it was in 1945. Yet we have never been so disturbed, so divided or so unhappy. We have never been so uncomfortable in our comfort. Our couch is seemingly pleasant, but the sword of Damocles is suspended over us, held by a hair. Some way in our frenzied rush toward material sovereignty we are losing the meaning of life. We are also losing our balance. We are shooting at strangers for reasons we cannot define and we are clubbing each other over the head with picket signs on any number of subjects. Graciousness and dignity are leaving our lives.

We have a feeling that we are demanding of people more than they can give. There is an end to this and it is not a good end.

We are becoming too materialistic, too dedicated to material achievement and the results thus far have indicated that this is not the path to a full, happy, abundant life.

We Fumbled Ball After Camp David

WASHINGTON — American newspaper editors at the end of 1959 voted that the biggest story of the year was the meeting between President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev at Camp David.

Editors at the end of this year may well vote that the biggest story of 1966 was the definite break between the world's two greatest communist powers, Russia and Red China, as further evidenced by the prolonged street demonstrations against the Russian embassy in Peking.

Most people, however, will not realize that the big story of 1959—the meeting between Khrushchev and Eisenhower — had a direct bearing on the big story of 1966.

However, this was the fact. The United States, plus Khrushchev, had more to do with the break between China and Russia than any other single factor. Having inspired it, however, we have done absolutely nothing to cash in on it. We have sat on the sidelines, twiddling our thumbs, the eyes of our diplomats glued glassily on the spectacle of Russia-Chinese friction as if they couldn't believe it, were powerless to take advantage of it. Yet this break represents the greatest opportunity of the two postwar decades for peace. It represents one of the great untold stories of 1966.

The story begins at the secret Moscow conference of communist powers in 1957. At that time Russia and Red China were bosom pals. But Mao Tse-tung, in a boastful, expansive mood, got off a statement which shook his Russian comrades to the bottom of their then complacent partnership. Mao said that China was the only nation in the world which could withstand the terrible losses of atomic war, since it would come out of such a war with 300 million people left.

The Russians were too stunned to repeat Mao's remark. But Tito of Yugoslavia, the old independent, was at the meeting, and he leaked it to the outside world. Later western diplomats confirmed the remark with Russian sources and learned the aftermath.

The Russians at that time had just developed their first Sputnik, were on the verge of other great space achievements. They determined not to give any of these secrets to the Chinese, especially not the secret of the A-bomb. If a nation was willing to face a loss of 300 million people out of its total 600 million population, then it was not to be trusted with nuclear secrets.

It was about a year after this—1958—that Khrushchev decided that the only way to prevent the horrors of nuclear war was an agreement, sort of nuclear partnership with the United States. To consummate it, he proposed going to the U.N. General Assembly meeting of 1958.

Man Talks Of Efficiency, Woman Gives Her Answer

NEW YORK — There are 1440 minutes in a day, and "productive people" use every one of them efficiently.

If that isn't an horrendous thought, I'll eat my hat (thus saving the 40 minutes I'd otherwise waste in the kitchen cooking a good dinner.)

Once you get the hang of being a productive person, you'll love it, wrote an awesome gentleman named Alfred Balk: You can accomplish up to 100 more chores in a day than you otherwise would. (And if I were Mrs. Balk, I'd live up to my name.)

Ex-president Eisenhower, during his White House residency at least, never fumbled in the morning or groped for his coffee. He was up, dressed and ready for action in less than 20 minutes, and you know why? Because he decided the night before what he was going to wear that day; it's that simple, said Balk.

Dave Garroway keeps a tape recorder at his bedside to dictate letters and reminders of things to do when he wakes up; several famous doctors memorize their day's duties and appointments while brushing their teeth and shaving. You cut corners—and possibly chins — that way.

Balk claimed that housewives, who have just as many minutes in the day as famous men and should have just as much incentive to use them proficiently, can be every ounce as productive as presidents.

"Take ordinary housework," he suggested. You are probably taking twice the time you need in doing it. . .

Balk had some other ideas for saving moments, such as delegating jobs to the children, letting dishes air dry, planning social activities efficiently so you kill eight obligations with one pot roast, and so on. But actually, he was only scratching the surface. Any housewife worth her slave wages can think of hundreds of other ways to stop killing time and kill herself instead. Such as:

While shampooing your hair, rinse the salad greens.

While diapering the baby, mash potatoes with your feet.

While cleaning your silver, clean your diamonds and sapphires.

While kissing your husband goodbye in the morning, pick up the mail, read it and mentally plan your replies.

While kissing your husband hello at night, signal the kids to come in and polish the door handle.

It will give you the strength to discard ideas like Balk's with one side of your brain while planning a much-needed vacation with the other.

Sweet Corn And Bean Time

By MONA B. PARKER

One South Sioux City father walked into a trap of his own creation, and backed out of it again rather unceremoniously. It turned out to be something like that old game that goes, a penny a day, doubled, for 30 days, etc.

He and his family were returning from a western vacation and the youngsters were becoming tired of travel. He suggested a game for their diversion. He offered to pay them a cent for every travel trailer they saw.

Well, he was sadly unaware, apparently, of the price of motel rooms and how many Americans had consequently taken to lugging their own roofs along with them. Between Lusk, Wyoming, and Rapid City, South Dakota, the youngsters counted 85. Father at that point decided to call off the game, since home was still 400 miles away. And lucky for his billfold he did. The count between Rapid City and Chamberlain, South Dakota, reached a total of 325.

Jean Williams of the Chester Herald had recovered nicely from one bean-picking session earlier in the summer. She secretly applauded the fact that no more had set on during the hot weather and contained cheers when her husband went out with the mower to clean up the garden.

However, back he came with the gladsome news that the rain had brought forth a new crop so he didn't mow them off, after all. It was at this point that she wished she had simply pulled up the vines after the first picking, as a friend had advised.

"It isn't that we really mind picking the beans. There's no trick to that. The trick is being able to straighten up again and walk as if you weren't just learning how for the next week."

'Tis the time of year, quoth Ruth Leadabrand in the Ashland Gazette, when daily lunch and dinner menus for them consist of sweet corn and something else. It's something to be enjoyed to its fullest in season because "like all good things of life, it doesn't last long."

It makes very little difference what the housewife prepares to go with it, she adds, since the second items get very little attention, anyway.

"Better put two butter dishes and salt shakers on the table, and set the places large for elbow room."

The mails do go through, but ever so slowly at times . . .

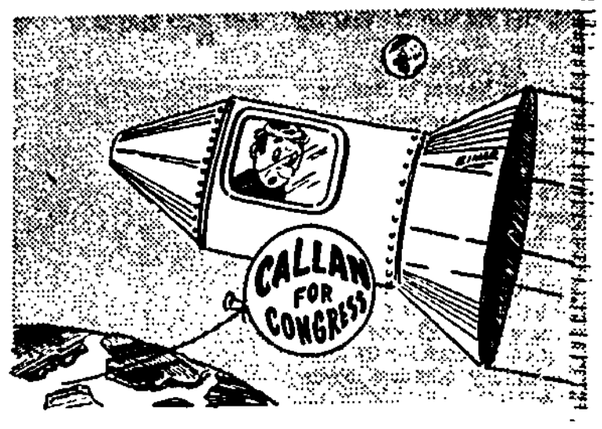

The Hastings Tribune received two letters recently, marked for the "Contest Editor." It was just assumed that they were for the 1966 football contest which will be started there soon.

However, a closer look at each showed that one had been mailed from Harvard on October 9, 1954 and the other from Hastings on November 17, 1965.

Floods have different effects on different people. They make Mrs. Joe Heitz of the Schuyler Sun columns mad. "Angry" just isn't a strong enough word to express her feelings.

Other phases of nature leave man feeling helpless. Hard rains can't be stopped. There is nothing to do when hail sweeps across the land, destroying crops. Tornadoes, high winds, droughts and other slashing forces of an angry nature can't be governed.

A Wayne youngster was carrying around a helium-filled balloon at the county fair, plugging Congressman Clair Callan's return to his Washington post. It had been explained to him what the printing on the balloon meant, so when the string slipped from his grasp and the balloon drifted away skyward, he was inclined to be politically philosophical. "There it goes into space," he sighed. "I wonder if an astronaut will see it and vote for Mr. Callan."

But Mrs. Heitz believes this: "There need never be a flood if proper precautions are taken at the source of the streams and their adjacent watersheds." Contour farming, terraces, dams, farm ponds all have their place in collecting water for future beneficial use.

It is late and getting later, Mrs. Heitz warned. "God made the world with just so many tillable acres. From these acres we must feed billions of people. We just can't afford to let this soil be washed out into the ocean . . ."

Mrs. Lester Eastwood smiled a bit as she informed Pawnee Republican readers that any among them, worried about a rabbit shortage, could put their fears to rest. Some folks had predicted that the cottontails were becoming extinct because there weren't any rabbit tracks in the snow last winter. Mrs. Eastwood reminds them that there wasn't much snow last winter, either.

"People who made the dismal forecast completely overlooked the bunnies' ability to multiply."

Two Answers

Fremont, Neb.

The recent hassle between Ross Rasmussen and the Fair Board is infantile to say the least. There can be only two possible answers. Since the renowned senator from our district had been bumming rides with friends back and forth from his hotel to the fairgrounds, it is obvious that he did not need the vehicle for transportation.

So, (1) he was using the fairground parking area for free parking and taking up space needed by others, or (2) the vehicle was being used for a political billboard. Either answer does not speak well of a candidate for lieutenant governor.

EX-DEMOCRAT

Bike Routes

Lincoln, Neb.

In reference to Phyllis Battelle's column, "Future's Leisure Not So Much Fun," as this year's chairman of the Lincoln-Lancaster Council of Youth, I would like to mention again the strides in establishing such a bike highway as was mentioned by Miss Battelle.

The Recreation Committee of the council has been involved in setting up a Youth Hosteling Route and also studying possible local bike routes within the city. We realize the need for better physical fitness and we also feel that too many people regard Nebraska as a state to travel through but not to vacation in.

The hosteling route would, hopefully, one day stretch across the entire state. In this manner, youth would be able to bask in the splendor of the state's natural beauty at a very small price. There would be a yearly membership fee of $1, and a fee of 50 cents nightly for the hostel accommodations. This would be ideal for youth groups such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, and Lin-Co-Y groups. These groups would bike, hike or canoe their way from hostel to hostel, with the hostels about 10 to 15 miles apart.

All our work is done entirely on a donation basis, and thus far we have received a tremendous reception. Our first hostel will be a converted barn, three miles southeast of Holland, Nebraska. We hope to find one midway between Lincoln and Holland and near Wagon Train Lakes, as otherwise the first leg would be a 23-mile jaunt. The barn was donated by Mr. J. Phillip Mahoney. We have also been promised paint by Mr. Charles Hamilton, the use of floor sanders by Mr. John Edward, and bricks and cement for an outside fireplace by the George Abel Construction Co.

This, among other things, is a plea for donations. We need volunteer professional men to hook up electricity, check our water supply, assist us in roofing the barn (once we acquire the shingles) and help with carpentry work.

We have also composed a proposed route along the Salt Creek levee, which would be ideal for shorter routes. In both cases, we found that it would almost be a necessity to have paved bike paths. On the hosteling route, we face highway traffic, and on the levee route, we face — mud!

Much work has been done on each of these projects by youth but we realize that without adult support, we cannot accomplish very much. Anyone wishing more information about the Lincoln-Lancaster Council of Youth or the bike routes, or anyone who wishes to contribute in any way may contact me.

Housing Code

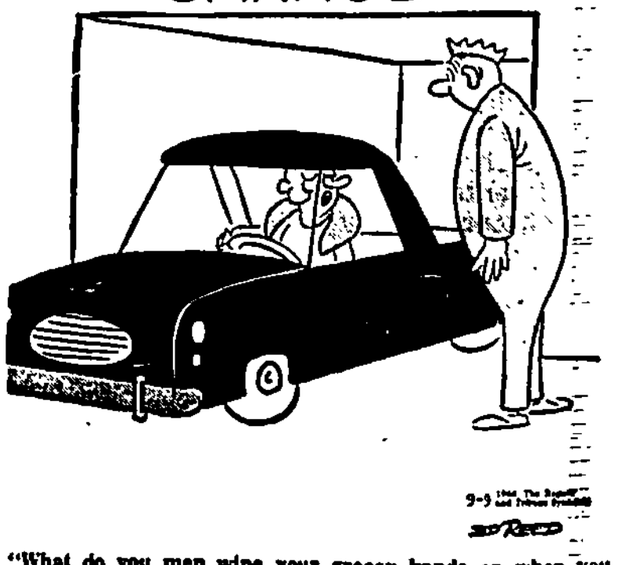

Lincoln, Neb.

The proposed changes in our housing code, adopted in 1954, need a bit more discussion. Making this code retroactive to 1954 (knocking out the grandfather clause) could bankrupt owners of rental property.

Petty differences would have far-reaching effects. For instance, a family wishing to rent out a spare bedroom could be forbidden if the floor or window area were any less than that specified in the code. Unessential code demands could close well maintained rental property. Since we now have ordinances insuring the proper care and upkeep of rental units, I see no reason for this controversial measure.

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

"What do you men wipe your greasy hands on when you run out of steering wheels?"

Institutions Need Help

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A proposal by Gov. Frank Morrison to establish and fill a medical director's position in the State Department of Institutions is one that should receive enthusiastic endorsement. Nebraska institutions, particularly those in areas of mental health and rehabilitation, have a general characteristic of adequate administration but weak professional standing.

The reason for this is two-fold. First, the character of care in both areas of things has changed drastically in recent years. Rather than care, the emphasis now is on treatment and cure, custodial operations being as outmoded as high button shoes. The second reason for this is the stringent financial position in which institutions consistently find themselves. The two things are interwoven with both of them working against the best interest of Nebraska and certainly against the welfare of those who find themselves as patients of the state.

Against Our Welfare

Drunkenness, for instance, has long been considered an illness rather than a strictly personal weakness. Recently, it is becoming apparent that drunkenness can no longer be treated even as a crime, that the drunkard cannot simply be placed in jail or sentenced in any way as a common criminal.

Yet, Nebraska does precious little in this field, treating the alcoholic at best as a case in which there is simply no hope. We really have no medically advanced program at the state level to assist in this critical and humane area of society. This is an area where we should be doing much more than we now are.

Criticism has been directed from time to time at the rehabilitation efforts of various state agencies. While not totally an institutional matter, it is very possible that a more professionally oriented program in the institutions would be a stimulant to improvement of efforts along these lines in all areas. As for the care of mental patients, there are few who are without any reservations on this score. Nebraska has achieved considerable prominence in the past as a result of improved techniques in the care of the mentally ill but it has not seemed to move from this earlier beginning. Our institutions consistently are on the fringe when it comes to medical accreditation, a problem that was shown in connection with Lincoln State Hospital's efforts at meeting Medicare requirements.

It is a problem that is shown in the difficulty of hiring a professional psychiatric staff and in the area of ward aids at the institutions. With starting salaries as low as $200 a month, the institutions have found the ranks of ward aids shrinking to an all but hopeless point. It seems that the two things go together — salaries and professional standing or guidance. The new post of medical director could be of great assistance in this matter. It would mean a competent analysis of the problem and the establishment of recognized objectives in the care and treatment of institutional patients. With such an effort, the salary scale would be improved because we would come to better recognize and understand the needs that exist.

Nebraska at this stage of things has at least three major areas of public concern. These three things are higher education, highways and institutions. There are many other important matters such as recreation and conservation and industrial growth but all of them involve at least some mixture of public and private effort and none of them can claim the priority considerations of the top three.

This is not even to mention the matter of penal institutions which is one that could well be discussed. In our penal affairs, we have been most fortunate in having a penitentiary warden, Maurice Sigler, who is an outstanding penologist and has given Nebraska one of the most trouble-free such operations as there is in the nation.

But things are happening in penal work, too, and Nebraska ought to be taking greater cognizance of them than we are. We are not nearly as strong in rehabilitation of penal inmates as we should be, a fact that Warden Sigler is aware of but one he finds difficult to deal with in light of a constant shortage of funds. He would welcome more clinical emphasis on the care of those men who come under his responsibility. The program suggested by Governor Morrison is one that could avoid for the state a great many difficulties in the future.

Rehabilitation Emphasis

It is a program that has the possibility of again placing this state in a position of institutional leadership. It is a recognition of the trend of development throughout institutional work that all states will eventually have to face. We would be farsighted to make now the modest start that is suggested by the governor with the creation of a new post of medical director.

"—And I'll Blow The Door Closed And/Or Bring Your House Down"

Basic Chinese Line

The purge inside Red China and that country's falling out with Russia centers on the accusation by the communist leaders there of revisionism on the part of their enemies. This is a term that has no real political meaning to us but it is a significant one in world affairs today.

It helps to explain to a very great degree just why we are in Viet Nam and why we must remain there. The term is one that applies to one's attitude toward revolution. In the Red Chinese view, it is the teaching of communism to spread revolution by force and it is on this point that they are in conflict with the Soviet Union.

Russia subscribes, through an evolution in her own thinking, to a policy of peaceful coexistence and the eventual evolution of political systems into communism. Red China is just the opposite, believing that the success of communism depends upon revolution by the people against their government — a process that is to be encouraged through subversion and even armed assistance.

Thus, official and undisputed Red China policy is the conquest of free nations through the very means being used now against South Viet Nam. It is almost ridiculous in view of such a situation that anyone would argue that the Viet Nam conflict could be ended if we withdrew our troops.

Significantly, many who advocate our withdrawal are ominously silent as to the consequences of such action. This is because they know in reality that withdrawal would mean a Red Chinese victory. Thus, withdrawal means defeat, means to turn all of Viet Nam over to communism, and one seriously doubts that this is in the thinking of very many of the American people.

Not At The Heart Of It

Once again State Water Resources Director Dan Jones is confronted by petitions to require the Loup and Platte Valley Power and Irrigation Districts to broaden the representation on their boards of directors.

The petitioners point to the fact that Loup and Platte provide electric power that serves more than 50 Nebraska counties and, therefore, should be more representative than they now are in naming the agencies' directors.

As an argument in democratic action there is some merit in the request. But there is little in the move that would correct the electric problems of the districts. Moreover, it is a fact that both districts divide their attention between electric power production and irrigation. And many of the 50 counties served electrically do not practice, have little knowledge of, or interest in, irrigation. It is questionable in this sense whether non-irrigating representatives would be a boon.

But as we say, trifling with the manner of electing directors could not hurt or help the districts greatly. And in the matter of solving whatever electric problems we may have it would be more like a merchant deciding to paint his home in order to relieve his mind of the worries of bad business at the store. It will relieve his mind some, but it won't help his business any.

The Nebraska experience in electric power is not at all unique. Our demand has outgrown our reserves and our transmission lines and the same has happened in every part of the country. The major districts here fought too much among themselves and built too little. But this vice has not taken us to a point of crisis. And it is a problem in management, not in democratic processes.

Even The Children

It is unsafe these days to question the new trend in education because it reflects the general national philosophy.

But we do think there is too much do or die in it. The kindergartener today approaches the classroom like a professional football player, as if his life depended upon it. He is fed thoughts of head start, of challenge, and he is told that science is not a noun but a verb. He does not contemplate science. He must work at it constantly.

What has become of the leisure of childhood, the relaxation of wandering through a grassy meadow or lying under a tree? What are we doing to our children? What are we doing to ourselves?

And lucky for his billfold he did. The count between Rapid City and Chamberlain, South Dakota, reached a total of 325.

Jean Williams of the Chester Herald had recovered nicely from one bean-picking session earlier in the summer. She secretly applauded the fact that no more had set on during the hot weather and contained cheers when her husband went out with the mower to clean up the garden.

However, back he came with the gladsome news that the rain had brought forth a new crop so he didn't mow them off, after all. It was at this point that she wished she had simply pulled up the vines after the first picking, as a friend had advised.

"It isn't that we really mind picking the beans. There's no trick to that. The trick is being able to straighten up again and walk as if you weren't just learning how for the next week."

'Tis the time of year, quoth Ruth Leadabrand in the Ashland Gazette, when daily lunch and dinner menus for them consist of sweet corn and something else. It's something to be enjoyed to its fullest in season because "like all good things of life, it doesn't last long."

It makes very little difference what the housewife prepares to go with it, she adds, since the second items get very little attention, anyway.

"Better put two butter dishes and salt shakers on the table, and set the places large for elbow room."

The mails do go through, but ever so slowly at times . . .

The Hastings Tribune received two letters recently, marked for the "Contest Editor." It was just assumed that they were for the 1966 football contest which will be started there soon.

However, a closer look at each showed that one had been mailed from Harvard on October 9, 1954 and the other from Hastings on November 17, 1965.

Floods have different effects on different people. They make Mrs. Joe Heitz of the Schuyler Sun columns mad. "Angry" just isn't a strong enough word to express her feelings.

Other phases of nature leave man feeling helpless. Hard rains can't be stopped. There is nothing to do when hail sweeps across the land, destroying crops. Tornadoes, high winds, droughts and other slashing forces of an angry nature can't be governed.

But Mrs. Heitz believes this: "There need never be a flood if proper precautions are taken at the source of the streams and their adjacent watersheds." Contour farming, terraces, dams, farm ponds all have their place in collecting water for future beneficial use.

It is late and getting later, Mrs. Heitz warned. "God made the world with just so many tillable acres. From these acres we must feed billions of people. We just can't afford to let this soil be washed out into the ocean . . ."

Mrs. Lester Eastwood smiled a bit as she informed Pawnee Republican readers that any among them, worried about a rabbit shortage, could put their fears to rest. Some folks had predicted that the cottontails were becoming extinct because there weren't any rabbit tracks in the snow last winter. Mrs. Eastwood reminds them that there wasn't much snow last winter, either.

"People who made the dismal forecast completely overlooked the bunnies' ability to multiply."

A Wayne youngster was carrying around a helium-filled balloon at the county fair, plugging Congressman Clair Callan's return to his Washington post. It had been explained to him what the printing on the balloon meant, so when the string slipped from his grasp and the balloon drifted away skyward, he was inclined to be politically philosophical. "There it goes into space," he sighed. "I wonder if an astronaut will see it and vote for Mr. Callan."

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing in publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Two Answers

Fremont, Neb.

The recent hassle between Ross Rasmussen and the Fair Board is infantile to say the least. There can be only two possible answers. Since the renowned senator from our district had been bumming rides with friends back and forth from his hotel to the fairgrounds, it is obvious that he did not need the vehicle for transportation.

So, (1) he was using the fairground parking area for free parking and taking up space needed by others, or (2) the vehicle was being used for a political billboard. Either answer does not speak well of a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Bike Routes

Lincoln, Neb.

In reference to Phyllis Battelle's column, "Future's Leisure Not So Much Fun," as this year's chairman of the Lincoln-Lancaster Council of Youth, I would like to mention again the strides in establishing such a bike highway as was mentioned by Miss Battelle.

The Recreation Committee of the council has been involved in setting up a Youth Hosteling Route and also studying possible local bike routes within the city. We realize the need for better physical fitness and we also feel that too many people regard Nebraska as a state to travel through but not to vacation in.

The hosteling route would, hopefully, one day stretch across the entire state. In this manner, youth would be able to bask in the splendor of the state's natural beauty at a very small price. There would be a yearly membership fee of $1, and a fee of 50 cents nightly for the hostel accommodations. This would be ideal for youth groups such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, and Lin-Co-Y groups. These groups would bike, hike or canoe their way from hostel to hostel, with the hostels about 10 to 15 miles apart.

All our work is done entirely on a donation basis, and thus far we have received a tremendous reception. Our first hostel will be a converted barn, three miles southeast of Holland, Nebraska. We hope to find one midway between Lincoln and Holland and near Wagon Train Lakes, as otherwise the first leg would be a 23-mile jaunt. The barn was donated by Mr. J. Phillip Mahoney. We have also been promised paint by Mr. Charles Hamilton, the use of floor sanders by Mr. John Edward, and bricks and cement for an outside fireplace by the George Abel Construction Co.

This, among other things, is a plea for donations. We need volunteer professional men to hook up electricity, check our water supply, assist us in roofing the barn (once we acquire the shingles) and help with carpentry work.

We have also composed a proposed route along the Salt Creek levee, which would be ideal for shorter routes. In both cases, we found that it would almost be a necessity to have paved bike paths. On the hosteling route, we face highway traffic, and on the levee route, we face — mud!

Much work has been done on each of these projects by youth but we realize that without adult support, we cannot accomplish very much. Anyone wishing more information about the Lincoln-Lancaster Council of Youth or the bike routes, or anyone who wishes to contribute in any way may contact me.

Housing Code

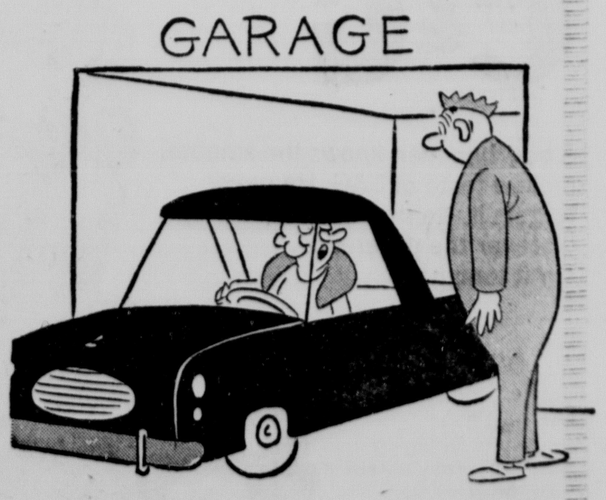

Lincoln, Neb.

The proposed changes in our housing code, adopted in 1954, need a bit more discussion. Making this code retroactive to 1954 (knocking out the grandfather clause) could bankrupt owners of rental property.

Petty differences would have far-reaching effects. For instance, a family wishing to rent out a spare bedroom could be forbidden if the floor or window area were any less than that specified in the code. Unessential code demands could close well maintained rental property. Since we now have ordinances insuring the proper care and upkeep of rental units, I see no reason for this controversial measure.

4-H Steer Champ Brings $2,272 Price

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

It was quite a week for Jackie and for the new owners of her Hereford champion "Chub."

As soon as Chub was named champion a whirlwind of events found Jackie making numerous appearances that were highlighted with the autographing of Chub's show halter by Tennessee Ernie Ford. All the activity didn't seem to bother Chub, who weighed 12 pounds more sale day than when he arrived.

For the new owners it was one of the busiest weeks ever experienced for Cooper Feeds at the fair. In addition to buying the champion steer, the firm supported the 4-H market swine program, Future Farmers of America barbecue, reception hour for the national Hereford show, purchased lambs in the 4-H sheep sale and maintained an exhibit.

Bought Reserve Champ

Another long-time friend of 4-H events was in to the last on the champion as Hugo Kahn, general manager of Gold's of Nebraska, was a contending bidder. He followed by purchasing Mike Hartman's reserve champion steer at 70 cents a pound.

The price of both champions was well below a year earlier when the champion sold for $2.50 a pound and the reserve champion for $1.20.

A new name to 4-H club sales was recorded as purchaser of the grand champion heifer when the Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80 bid 47.5 cents a pound for Robert Votipka's grand champion Angus. The total was $476.

Exalted Ruler Howard W. Spahnle said he hoped this would be another event the Lincoln Elks could participate in annually. The group has youth programs that total nearly $30,000 each year.

The reserve champion heifer owned by LaRhea Pageler of Cedar Bluffs commanded a 50-cents-a pound bid from the Farmers Union Co-op Elevator of Cedar Bluffs.

Active Group

An extremely active group throughout the auction was the Lincoln Jaycee Club of Champions, which offers widespread support for the sale.

Lincoln firms represented in this group include: Miller & Paine; Gold's; Bankers Life Nebraska; National Bank of Commerce; KOLN-TV; Lincoln Steel Co.; Security Mutual Life Insurance Co.; Lincoln Hotel; Sunday Journal and Star; Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Barths Drugs; Midwest Life Insurance Co.; Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80; First National Bank; General Tobacco & Candy Co.; Fleming Co. of Nebraska; Lincoln Chamber of Commerce; and Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Other top sellers and their buyers were:

Loup District Won't Oppose Substations' Construction

Loup River Public Power District has filed with the Nebraska Power Review Board unconditional waivers indicating no opposition to the proposed construction of substations by other power districts along the Nebraska Public Power System transmission grid.

Consumers Public Power District, Custer Public Power District and Cuming County Public Power District have all filed applications to construct such substations.

In addition, Burt County Public Power District has filed an application to construct a sub-transmission line associated with the proposed CPPD substation near Winslow.

Loup, an NPPS partner, filed waivers for each district which requested it to do so.

Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District, the other NPPS partner, has filed conditional waivers.

The Power Board is attempting to draw a prototype of an order of approval for substation applications which it hopes will receive the endorsement of all affected power districts.

Thus, the board and the districts could possibly avoid prolonged hearings on each application.

New Missouri Span At Omaha To Open Nov. 1

Nebraska Highway Engineer John W. Hossack said Thursday the new eight-lane Interstate bridge linking downtown Omaha with Council Bluffs, Iowa, will be open Nov. 1 barring inclement weather on labor strife.

He made the statement after a meeting with Gov. Frank Morrison and representatives of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., prime contractor for the $4 million project.

The bridge, first of three Interstate structures that will connect Nebraska and Iowa in the Omaha area, was supposed to be ready this month.

But Hossack said a delay in delivery of steel supports and some labor troubles forced a postponement of the opening date.

Johnson Appoints Ex-ADA Leader

Washington (UPI)—President Johnson Thursday appointed John P Roche, former national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, as a special consultant.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Roche, 43, chairman of the graduate committee of Brandeis University, will begin his new job shortly.

Habeas Corpus Writ Sought By Attorneys For Caril Fugate

Attorneys for Caril Ann Fugate Thursday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Federal District Court here seeking to free the former companion of mass killer Charles Starkweather from a life prison term.

The action, attorney John McArthur said, is intended to bypass, for the time being, an evidentiary hearing ordered last month by the Nebraska Supreme Court, and carry the case directly to the federal courts instead.

It was the second habeas corpus petition submitted in the past two years by Miss Fugate to the court of Judge Robert Van Pelt. The earlier action was dismissed.

McArthur and co-counsel Merrill Reller filed the petition in federal court even though the Nebraska high court had reversed a Lancaster District Court decision and held that Miss Fugate is entitled to a hearing to determine if statements made by her prior to the trial, and used against her, were voluntary admissions.

'Not A Full Hearing'

"We feel that the Supreme Court opinion does not give us a full hearing on the matter," Reller said.

"It was such a narrow point that for all practical purposes, state remedies have been exhausted," according to McArthur.

Miss Fugate, now 22, is serving a life sentence for first degree murder. She was convicted in 1958 of aiding and abetting Starkweather in one of a string of 11 killings attributed to him. Starkweather was executed.

In the federal court petition the attorneys, both of Lincoln, stated the "petitioner has exhausted all state remedies as to every issue excepting only voluntariness of statements made by her which is only one of nine of the constitutional rights involved in this case."

Wager Issue Raised

Requesting a writ of habeas corpus, the petition asked for a "full and fair fact hearing" on the questions of any violation of Miss Fugate's constitutional rights, the method of obtaining statements from her and used against her, whether a murder charge was filed against her without her knowledge and whether a bet on the outcome of the trial was made by one of the jurors.

The Lancaster District Court last July was directed to review statements made by Miss Fugate to determine if they were voluntary admissions, after the Supreme Court noted she was arrested in Wyoming, waived extradition to Nebraska and was questioned for two weeks without legal counsel.

Judge Van Pelt could dismiss Miss Fugate's federal petition and send it to the district court, or he could order a hearing held on it.

More than a year ago, the Federal Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo., turned the Fugate case over to the state courts for a determination of whether the constitutional rights were abused after the state Legislature enacted a statute permitting prisoners to challenge their convictions in state courts

HHH's Visit Said To Be 'Another Purge-Curtis Try'

State Republican Chairman Walter Witthoff of Fremont Thursday called the forthcoming visit to Nebraska of Vice President Hubert Humphrey as "installment number four in the Johnson administration's attempt to purge Sen. Curtis."

Witthoff said the earlier "installments" were Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's Nebraskaland Days appearance in Lincoln, the President's speech in Omaha, and Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's appearance in Columbus.

Democrats have reported that Humphrey will visit the state Oct. 18

Habeas Corpus Writ Sought By Attorneys For Caril Fugate

Attorneys for Caril Ann Fugate Thursday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Federal District Court here seeking to free the former campanion of mass killer Charles Starkweather from a life prison term.

The action, attorney John McArthur said, is intended to bypass, for the time being, an evidentiary hearing ordered last month by the Nebraska Supreme Court, and carry the case directly to the federal courts instead.

It was the second habeas corpus petition submitted in the past two years by Miss Fugate to the court of Judge Robert Van Pelt. The earlier action was dismissed.

McArthur and co-counsel Merrill Reller filed the petition in federal court even though the Nebraska high court had reversed a Lancaster District Court decision and held that Miss Fugate is entitled to a hearing to determine if statements made by her prior to the trial, and used against her, were voluntary admissions.

'Not A Full Hearing'

"We feel that the Supreme Court opinion does not give us a full hearing on the matter," Reller said.

"It was such a narrow point that for all practical purposes, state remedies have been exhausted," according to McArthur.

Miss Fugate, now 22, is serving a life sentence for first degree murder. She was convicted in 1958 of aiding and abetting Starkweather in one of a string of 11 killings attributed to him. Starkweather was executed.

In the federal court petition the attorneys, both of Lincoln, stated the "petitioner has exhausted all state remedies as to every issue excepting only voluntariness of statements made by her which is only one of nine of the constitutional rights involved in this case."

Wager Issue Raised

Requesting a writ of habeas corpus, the petition asked for a "full and fair fact hearing" on the questions of any violation of Miss Fugate's constitutional rights, the method of obtaining statements from her and used against her, whether a murder charge was filed against her without her knowledge and whether a bet on the outcome of the trial was made by one of the jurors.

The Lancaster District Court last July was directed to review statements made by Miss Fugate to determine if they were voluntary admissions, after the Supreme Court noted she was arrested in Wyoming, waived extradition to Nebraska and was questioned for two weeks without legal counsel.

Judge Van Pelt could dismiss Miss Fugate's federal petition and send it to the district court, or he could order a hearing held on it.

More than a year ago, the Federal Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo., turned the Fugate case over to the state courts for a determination of whether the constitutional rights were abused after the state Legislature enacted a statute permitting prisoners to challenge their convictions in state courts

HHH's Visit Said To Be 'Another Purge-Curtis Try'

State Republican Chairman Walter Witthoff of Fremont Thursday called the forthcoming visit to Nebraska of Vice President Hubert Humphrey as "installment number four in the Johnson administration's attempt to purge Sen. Curtis."

Witthoff said the earlier "installments" were Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's Nebraskaland Days appearance in Lincoln, the President's speech in Omaha, and Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman's appearance in Columbus.

Democrats have reported that Humphrey will visit the state Oct. 18.

. . . COOK COMPANY LOW

George Cook Construction Co. of Lincoln submitted the apparent low bid Thursday on a women's physical education building for the University of Nebraska.

The Cook bid of $1,377,777 for the general contract was nearly $100,000 under the second low.

The building, to be partially financed with federal funds, will be located at 14th and Vine. It is planned to include a swimming pool, classrooms, offices and gymnasiums.

Others bidding on the general contract were Dondlinger and Sons Construction Co., Hawkins Construction Co., $1,465,460; and Olson Construction Co., $1,513,333.

Apparent low bidder for the mechanical contract was Ray Martin Co., $381,600. Also bidding were Natkin and Co., $397,320; Newberg and Bookstrom, $394,815; Rinehart Brothers, $399,477; and Wentz Plumbing and Heating $393,329.

Electrical contract apparent low bidder was Energy Enterprises at $104,470. Other electrical contract bids were submitted by ABC Electric Co., $129,200; OK Electric Co., $127,000;; Commonwealth Electric Co., $137,558; Briteway Electric Co., $114,500; and Cesco Electric Co., $142,126.

The bids must be analyzed by the engineers and architects, the Leo Daly Co. of Omaha, and submitted to the board of Regents for approval, according to R. E. Bennett, director of special business services.

The bids received on the physical education building "appear to be close to the estimate," he said.

Contracts also must receive conditional approval by the federal government since $714,000 in federal funds will be used to finance part of the construction. The funds were granted through the Higher Education Facilities Act.

'How To Watch Football' Course Opened To Males

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

"Watching Football," the celebrated seven-week course for women taught by University of Nebraska coaches last fall, has been expanded this year by popular demand — to men.

The Lincoln Public Schools general adult education division has scheduled a class in football fundamentals for men this fall, as well as continuing the successful "Football —A spectator sport" for women, according to Associate Dean James Huge.

Women and men will be segregated in the seven-week "how to view football" classes, Huge reported. The course for men, it was pointed out, will assume students have some previous knowledge about football.

Interest remains high for the women's course, according to numerous inquiries received in the Adult High School office and the promise of one Alliance woman to either fly or drive in for every class.

Course Costs $6

Applicants for the football courses may register by mail or phone. The fee is $6.

Aviation classes offered in the general adult education division are expected to be as popular as last year, according to Huge. Last year 75 registrations were counted for classes of ground school training in private pilot, refresher and instrument courses, all accredited by the FAA.

Some 172 adult education courses will be offered this fall in the Lincoln Community College: 25 in distributive education; 15 in industrial education; 47 in general adult education; 34 in the Adult High School; 17 in business education and 34 in home and family life education.

English, math, history, social studies, and science classes offered in the Adult High School will fulfill requirements for a high school diploma.

Courses in the Community College include art, foreign language, knitting, golf, typing, tailoring, guitar and even gardening.

Law For Women

Among the courses designed especially for women is a class on law for women, outlining laws women should know in their roles as wives, mother and widows.

Also of special interest to women will be courses in food budget "magic," help for the disabled homemaker, holiday crafts and the art of being a good hostess.

Some of the courses will appeal to whole families as study discussion to understand children 6-12 years old; "conflict — parents and teens", discussions on handling teen-agers, and even a class of "modern math for parents," designed to acquaint parents with the new math concepts and techniques.

Admission to Community College classes is open to persons over 16. Registrations for courses are being taken by mail or telephone at the Public School Administration Building, 22nd and Randolph Sts., phone 475-1081.

Married College Students Urged To Use Food Stamps

More Lancaster County families including married college students are being urged to participate in the Food Stamp Plan.

Lancaster County Director of Public Welfare J. Earle Trabert noted that it is not necessary to be on relief or public assistance to be eligible to participate in the plan.

He cited an example of a family of three persons (man, wife and one child) working parttime with monthly net income of $200 may be eligible.

The participant would be required to pay $62 per month for food coupons for which he would receive a total of $80 in stamps or purchasing power—a bonus of $18 per month in extra food for the family.

Nonassistance families qualify if they do not have liquid resources exceeding $750 for one person or $1,500 for two or more persons and have the following incomes:

No. person in family	Monthly Income
1	$120
2	160
3	230
4	270
5	305
6	335
7	360
8	385
9	410
10	435

Trabert said that there was an increase of 7% in participation in the program in August over July making the number of participating households in August number 433 for a total of 1,337 persons.

He reported that $17,776 worth of food stamps were purchased by participants during the month with a bonus of $8,002 in free stamps for a total of $25,778 food stamps issued.

LBJ Greets Burma Chief

Washington (AP) — President Johnson told Burma's neutralist leader Thursday that "the day cannot come too soon" for the resources now devoted to the Viet Nam conflict to be diverted to cooperative efforts to improve life in Southeast Asia.

The President described this as America's hope, dream and goal when he extended a formal ceremonial welcome to 55-year-old Gen. Ne Win on his arrival for a state visit.

The President and Ne Win were expected to devote the bulk of their talks to the Viet Nam problem and the possibility for the economic development of the area.

Smoke Fatal To 3

Barcelona, Spain (AP) — Three Spaniards died in hospitals and approximately 100 railway workers and travelers received medical treatment after being trapped by dense smoke from a burning railway car in the Plaza de Espana station here.

OK Tentative $1.25 Million Soil, Water Budget

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission Thursday approved a proposed 1967-69 biennium budget of approximately $1.25 million, representing a $300,000 increase over the current biennium.

Warren Fairchild, the commission's executive secretary, said the increases include $100,000 for LB71 assistance to watersheds, $100,000 for flood control planning and about $70,000 more for salaries and $20,000 in capital outlay.

He said the budget is subject to refinement before final submission to the governor about Sept. 15.

$73,000 For Personnel

Under watershed and flood control planning, the commission approved about $73,000 for additional personnel, including an engineer, three photo topography specialists, three draftsmen and four part-time employes.

Although the Legislature will be asked for only $300,000 in tax funds for watershed assistance, Fairchild estimated an additional $150,000 would be available from property sales under the LB71 revolving fund.

In other action, the commission referred to its watershed and flood control committee a request by the Republican Valley Conservation Association for support on a resolution calling for federal financing of a project to clear willow trees from the Republican River.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers has estimated the federal project at $1.6 million, but has assigned non-federal costs of $35,000 in the project plus annual maintenance costs of $28,940.

Shouldn't Be Burdened

The association contends the district should not be burdened with the maintenance costs, requiring an annual levy of six-tenths of a mill because of the state-wide benefits from the project.

Fairchild said neither federal nor state legislation would permit state or federal participation in maintenance costs, but suggested some legislative changes are indicated.

However, the commission referred the matter to its subcommittee for further information.

Rail Commission OKs Rock Island Request To Remove Some Tracks

The State Railway Commission Thursday approved the Rock Island Railroad's request to remove some switch and spur tracks at 13 Eastern Nebraska communities but denied the request for track removal at five other towns.

The commission ordered that the equipment should remain at Plymouth, Jansen, Martell, Rokeby and Alvo. It said the railroad has already removed some trackage at Alvo and insisted that the company replace it.

The commission approved the Rock Island's track removal request as it affected Omaha, Lincoln, South Bend, Albright, Richfield, Rumsey, Prairie Home, Murdock, Havelock, Clatonia, Fairbury, De Witt and Thompson.

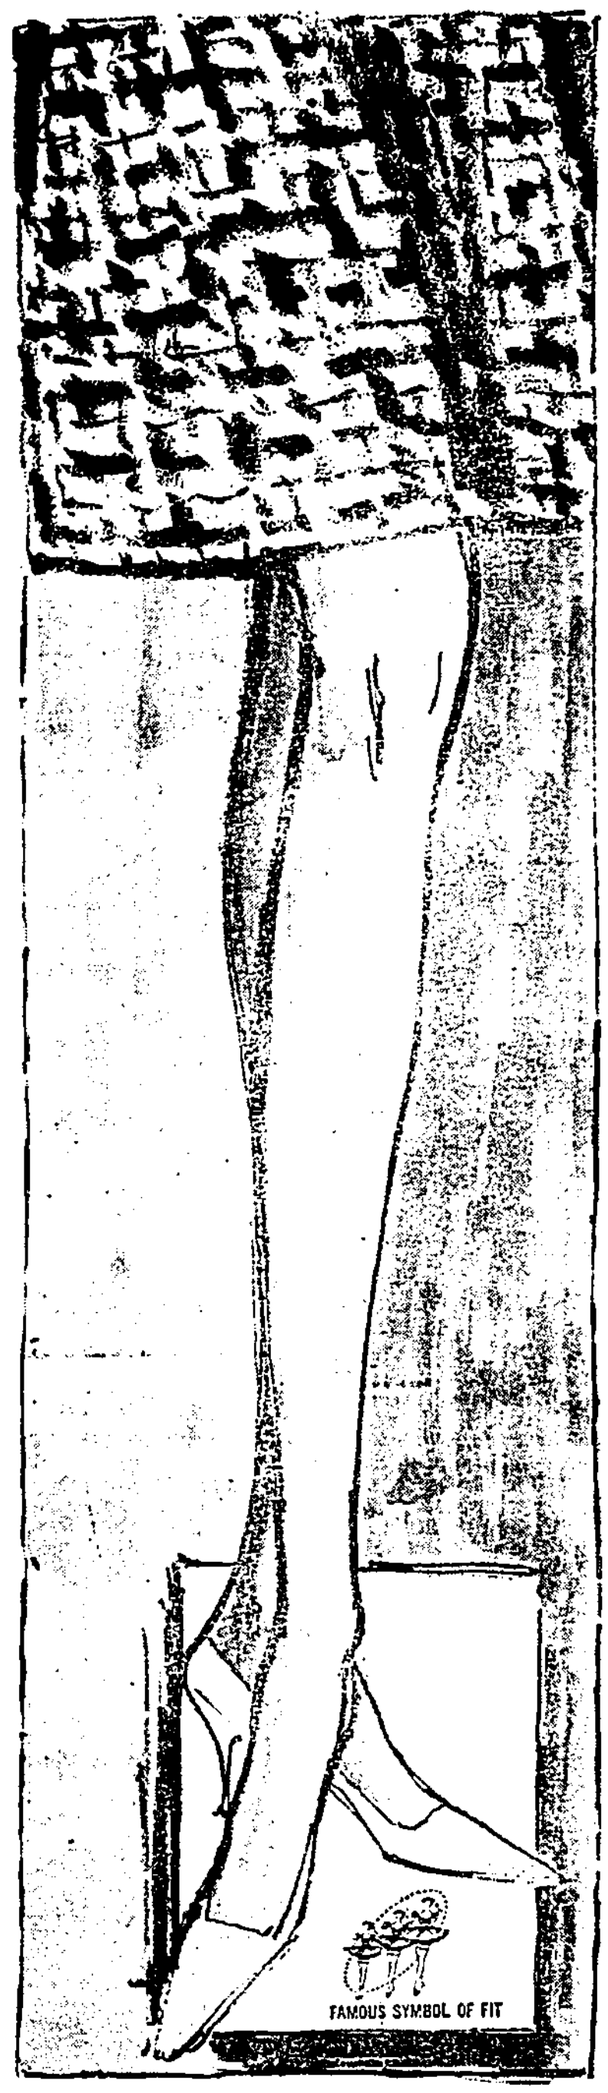

The railroad said the switch and spur rails were "obsolete and unneeded" and said cash from sale of the track would be used to purchase locomotives, boxcars and other equipment.

Representatives of many of the smaller communities and businesses in the towns protested the Rock Island application, contending the rail abandonments would result in poorer service.

Adult Class Funds Approval Expected

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Federal approval of use of Economic Opportunity Act funds for program providing expenses for 100 adults to attend high school classes is expected in the next few days, according to Lincoln Action Program Director Art May.

The Kansas City regional Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has indicated the adult high school education program will be given the go-ahead for the next year even though Congress has not yet passed the appropriations bill for anti-poverty projects.

The OEO has informed community action agencies that until the bill receives congressional approval, only established programs at their current level will be financed for operation, May said.

However, he explained, approval for Lincoln's new adult high school project is essentially assured because the action program has enough money left over from previously funded projects—for example from Head Start since it started later than planned—to cover the amount of federal money requested, $8,250.

The federal proposal would provide tuition and books for 100 adults to enroll in the Lincoln Public Schools Adult High School to finish requirements for a high school diploma.

Last year the Lincoln Action Program and the public schools received approval for a basic adult education program, providing funds for 100 adults with less than an eighth grade education to take intensive instruction to complete the eighth grade level.

The LAP director speculated that the Lincoln Head Start project would be approved and funded at last year's level of operation. Last year Head Start was funded for 150 four-year-olds. The schools had requested a project for 210 children for 1966-67.

May added that it is unlikely the proposed legal services project would be funded until the appropriations bill is passed since it is a new program for Lincoln. However, he noted, the idea has been "looked on favorably by Congress."

Dental Assistants School Now Taking Applications

The Dental Assistants Training School administered by the Lincoln Community College of the public schools is taking applications for its first 48-week course starting Oct. 3.

The course of classroom instruction and clinical experience is fully accredited by the American Dental Association and makes graduated students eligible to take the examination to become a certified dental assistant, according to associate dean Ed Schwartzkopf.

The dental assistants course, open to high school graduates between the ages of 17 and 50, will train qualified persons to assist the dentist as a receptionist, making appointments, chairside assisting, laboratory procedures, care of dental equipment, patient records, X-ray procedures, transaction of office business, and secretarial duties.

Cost of the course is $300 which includes tuition, textbooks, all laboratory supplies and two uniforms.

Class sessions will be held at Whittier Junior High School, 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Questions and applications are being directed to Mrs. Martha Brandt, supervisor of the dental assistant education and training program, at the Public Schools Administration Building.

Inmate Sues Omaha Cops After Retrial, Resentence

By United Press International

An Omaha man resentenced to four years in the State Penitentiary in April, 1965, Thursday filed a damage suit for nearly $200,000 in Federal District Court here against the Omaha Police Department.

David King, 35, alleged he spent five years, three months and four days illegally in prison because of actions of Omaha Police Chief C. Harold Ostler and his subordinates.

Originally, King was sentenced to eight years for robbing the Friendly Liquor Store in Omaha in 1960. But this term was voided by the U.S. District Court in early 1965 after it was determined King had been struck and handcuffed to a chair during police questioning

Retried, Reconvicted

Later, King was retried and reconvicted in Douglas County District Court.

District Judge John Murphy did not credit King for previous time served in prison on the charge. The judge's decision was upheld last July by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

In his latest petition, King seeks $25,000 punitive damages and $100 for each day of his original sentence. He also asks for attorney fees.

Basically, King contends his constitutional rights were abused by the Omaha Police Department. He said he was subjected to "cruel" punishment.

Inmate Of State Reformatory Is Object Of Hunt

Authorities continued their search late Thursday for a Nebraska Men's Reformatory inmate who walked away from a work detail outside the prison walls.

Prison officials identified the convict as James Lee Clayter, 18, Omaha, who was sentenced May 13 to one to two years for burglary.

Clayter was described as a Negro, 5-7, about 152 pounds, black hair, brown eyes, wearing a white T-shirt, blue trousers and a blue prison jacket.

Officials said Clayter was with a work detail cutting weeds from a milo field about one and a half miles north of the Reformatory. He was noticed missing about 10:30 a.m.

Shall I take the white coat? The raw silk one?"

"Not very warm," I said. "What about that dark green thing?"

Well, this brings on a flood of answers. First, it wouldn't go with anything else. Second, it might be too warm. Third, she thinks it's still at the cleaners.

One thing I've noticed. If you do come to some agreement, the chick will show up in a red coat that hasn't even been mentioned.

You say, "I thought you were bringing a white coat."

We have been skewered by doctors. I should really make the medics add tattoo ink to the serum. I would be a walking art gallery today. I could go on loan to the Louvre.

I wonder if these shots really do any good?

The place I get shot most is London airport. I get jolled up in the pub there and misplace my yellow card.

They take you in a side room.

"Roll up your sleeve please. Don't want to get blood on the shirt now, do we?"

They are full of laughs, the health people at London airport. It's free.

"On the Health Scheme, you know." Thanks a lot!

With women and children everything is needed inside the plane. Therefore it must all be packed in small packages.

"Why," I asked, "must you carry eight pounds of cosmetics aboard? With that you could make up for The Creature From The Black Lagoon."

Well, makeup is important. Do I want people to arrive in London looking like a hag? (That would be OK with me. But I have learned to hold back such thoughts.)

Also, anybody in his right mind would know you have to carry a hat box. A hat box is easily crushed. (So am I.)

Books must be carried by hand. "To read of course, what else?" "How about reading all the free magazines?" "Somebody always gets the best ones first. I don't understand why you're against it. It's only one book."

The logic of this crushes me. (I think a martini before lunch would be a good idea. A man must keep himself tranquil these days.)

☆ ☆ ☆

On the other hand when I pack —"Are you taking two pair of shoes?"

I pointed out that people often change shoes

"It's a good deal of extra weight," she said. "I'm just trying to help. Is that the tape recorder you're taking? I'm not saying you shouldn't. You always take it, but I don't see you using it."

"That's probably because you're either at the beach or the hairdresser's when I'm working." (There's a low blow! Ha!)

In answer, the doll goes through the ties. Throws out those gorgeous red and green ones. "Oh, no! Not that one!" Replaces with with sober, wren-like browns. Who wants to wear those dogs?

☆ ☆ ☆

Thus by agreeable degrees we reach a point of departure. Agreed on clothing "Not another dress!" Agreed on the number of suitcases. "Two and that's final!"

And when the taxi arrives —"Where did that trunk come from?"

"For goodness sake," she says, "we have to have something to wear!"

Park Board Would Add Teen Members

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City Park and Recreation Advisory Board Thursday recommended that its membership be increased to include two youthful representatives, possibly teenagers.

An ordinance providing for the realignment of the 11-member board will be introduced before the City Council by Council Vice Chairman Mrs. Helen Boosalis, also a park board member.

Under the proposed ordinance, the board membership would be increased to 14, including one representative each from the council, County Board of Commissioners and school district; "nine electors of the city and two persons who are residents and not electors."

Would Allow Teens

The last provision would allow persons under 21 to serve on the board. Present rules require members to be registered voters as well as city residents.

The move is seen by the advisory board and some council members as a chance to gain the teen-age viewpoint on recreation problems facing the city.

A suggestion that the new members serve in an ex-officio capacity was vetoed by the board in its recommendation to the council. The youthful representatives "should get right into it," said member Bill Haydon.

If the ordinance is passed, a primary duty facing one of the two new teen-age members would be to serve on a special committee formed to study where recreation centers should be located, how many, what concept should be followed, and around what type of program the centers should be built.

Thursday, board Chairman Max Roper appointed the following members to the committee: Mrs. Francis Beecher, Mrs. Walter Whitaker, Haydon, and William Dobler; plus the school district representative and one new member.

Plan and Program

The committee has been asked to come up with a plan and program for new recreation centers in time to incorporate into the capital improvements budget which is prepared starting in February.

A major task will be to decide whether regional recreation centers or one main center, or both, best suit the citys needs. $5,000 for the study has been included in the fiscal 1966-67 city budget.

In a City Hall ceremony preceding the park board meeting, retiring assistant park superintendant Glenn Suiker was honored by the board.

Suiker was presented with the Park Builder Award, an honor extended to only four other Lincolnites.

He started with the park department in 1927, was caretaker of Pioneers Park until 1941, general park foreman and acting superintendent before becoming assistant in 1953.

Suiker was lauded by Dobler "for a lifetime of work for us." He was one of two men "who built Pioneers Park," Dobler said.

Speaker: Cliches Won't Lick Poverty

Women attending the 1966 Mission Institute at St. Paul Methodist Church in Lincoln Thursday were warned against falling back on cliches while searching the institute's theme, "Affluence and Poverty—The Christian's Dilemma."

Guest speaker Dr. Glover A. Leitch, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lincoln, outlined what he said are the misleading cliches:

—Money will cure all our ills, urban and social. Sinful men can't be guaranteed an income and be expected to work, Dr. Leitch said.

—Most people could earn a living if they would work for it. "Try telling a tribal farmer in Africa that he would make a living if he worked harder."

—The Bible said there will always be poor people.

—God blessed us because we deserve it.

Very Little

—The church has done very little about poverty and it's time to take action.

Dr. Leitch urged the Lincoln Council of United Church Women, sponsors of the institute, to use Christian principles as a guide to seeking answers.

In reminding some 100 women in attendance that every Christian is called to be a steward of the gospel, Dr. Leitch noted that effective action against poverty can be taken through corporate bodies of churches.

As an example, he cited offshoot religions which break away from their respective organizations only to return to the group when money gets short.

However, he added, "Our obligation does not cease with the giving of money."

Program of Action

In urging a program of action, Dr. Leitch said that the relation of Christian action to other action is interesting.

"Christian action will often be misunderstood," he said. Because "this fellow advocates some social action he must be a Communist" is an often-heard comment, Dr. Leitch said.

But "Christian action will often be completely different because of motivation which is the love of Jesus Christ," Dr. Leitch said.

"It is different in the spirit in which it is done," he added.

Senators Will Ask School Districts To Provide Handicapped Training

A Legislative Council study committee Thursday reported it would recommend to the 1967 Legislature that school districts provide educational or training programs for both the educable and trainable mentally and physically handicapped.

Also proposed was that districts not providing such services must send the children to school districts providing such services and contribute an amount equal to the actual per pupil cost in the home district.

The report of the Legislative Council's Committee on Educational and Training Programs for the Mentally and Physically Handicapped was released by Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, chairman.

Other Recommendations

Other committee recommendations made public were:

—That a count of all mentally and physically handicapped children be included in the regular school census.

—That all training and education programs for the trainable mentally handicapped children established by local school districts be under supervision of the State Education Department.

—That schools be established throughout the state for trainable mentally handicapped children as the responsibility of local areas.

—That parents of children attending area schools pay room and board expenses, but, if unable to do so, the costs shall be borne by the counties as for persons in state institutions.

Cozad Recommended

—That the State School for the Trainable Mentally Retarded at Cozad be established as one of the area schools.

—That the State Education Department be given the authority and funds to provide a staff consultant for gifted children.

Park Bonds OKd

Crofton (AP)—Voters approved the issuance of $20,000 in park improvement bonds by a vote of 220-21. Planned is a swimming pool, tennis courts, ice skating rink and picnic areas financed by 50% federal funds and 25% state and local funds respectively.

"We just bought 5 big new jets like this for Frontier. That's because we're out to give the West the best of everything.

Aren't all airlines?"

The plane is a Boeing 727,—Frontier's new Arrow-Jet. The man is Lewis Dymond, president of Frontier. He's bought five of these jets to cover the skies of Frontierland at 600-miles-an-hour starting this fall. That's some flying—and some comfort, too. Fly Frontier and see. It's the airline that knows the West. Best.

FRONTIER AIRLINES SERVES 65 CITIES IN 11 MOUNTAIN AND PLAINS STATES. THESE ARE SOME OF THE GROWINGEST CITIES IN THE WEST INCLUDING DENVER, PHOENIX, TUCSON, EL PASO, ALBUQUERQUE, LINCOLN, OMAHA, CHEYENNE, RAPID CITY, BISMARCK, GREAT FALLS, SALT LAKE CITY AND FARMINGTON.

WCTU Attacks Armed Forces

Portland, Ore. (UPI)—The president of the national Woman's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) charged Thursday that the U.S. armed forces have become a "school for alcoholism" and ship huge amounts of liquor to the fighting men in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Fred J. Tooze of Evanston, Ill., told the WCTU's executive committee prior to the opening of the union's convention Friday that 270,000 fifths of whiskey, gin, vodka and rum were shipped to Viet Nam by the military last September alone and there have been subsequent shipments.

WCTU Attacks Armed Forces

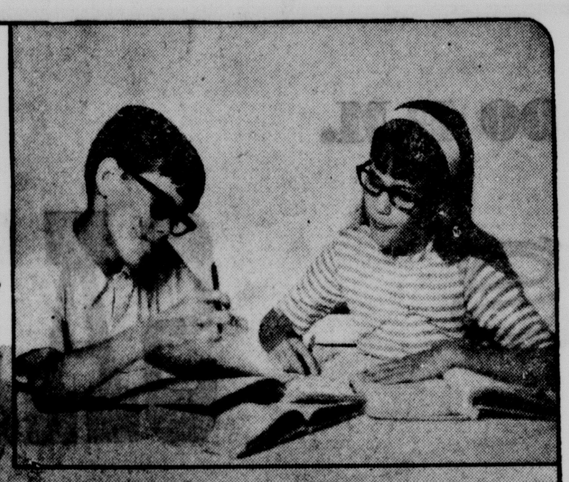

Portland, Ore. (UPI)—The president of the national Woman's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) charged Thursday that the U.S. armed forces have become a "school for alcoholism" and ship huge amounts of liquor to the fighting men in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Fred J. Tooze of Evanston, Ill., told the WCTU's executive committee prior to the opening of the union's convention Friday that 270,000 fifths of whiskey, gin, vodka and rum were shipped to Viet Nam by the military last September alone and there have been subsequent shipments.

FREE FROM THREE

Fast, free delivery of prescriptions from three conveniently located stores is only one reason why Lincoln people have been patronizing us since 1927. Another is our complete stock of drugs, medicines, and medical supplies. Yet another is our staff of experienced, professional pharmacists. That's the most important reason, after all. You've come to expect the best from us. And that's what you'll get, always.

BRIDE
at chapel ceremony

The chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Lincoln, was appointed with bouquets of white and yellow roses and gladioli Saturday afternoon, Sept. 3, for the marriage of Miss Dessa Lee Strecker, daughter of Lt. Col. Leland E. Strecker (USAF, Ret.) and Mrs. Strecker, to William Arthur Sheppard Taylor, son of Mrs. Arthur Sheppard Taylor, all of Omaha. The lines of the service were read at 2 o'clock by Dr. Robert E. Palmer.

Wearing Empire sheaths and coats of gold brocade and crepe were Miss Dana Sue Strecker of Omaha, as her sister's maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Allsop, Fuchu Air Force Base, Japan; and Mrs. Arendt H. Hansen.

Stephen L. Rosenquist of Omaha served as best man, and the ushers were William D. Messick, San Antonio, Tex.; Richard Theis, Omaha; Arendt H. Hansen and Charles Pennington.

The bride's sleeveless sheath gown of ivory peau de soie was appliqued with reembroidered Alencon lace. Floral appliques of the lace were repeated in the trim of the matching silk coat, which was designed with long, fitted sleeves and continued into a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was held by a pillbox cap of jeweled lace and silk, and she carried a crescent arrangement of gardenias.

Mr. Taylor and his bride will live at 3641 J, in Lincoln, where both are students at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Taylor is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and the bridegroom's fraternity is Chi Phi.

TALK
of the town

There is to be a party at the Collingwood Club in Alexandria, Va., this evening—It is the prenuptial dinner honoring Miss Barbara Lewis of Washington D.C., and Eric Swenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Swenson of Lincoln, whose marriage will be solemnized on Saturday.

The dinner host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Swenson whose guest list included members of the family, the bridal party and out of town guests—We might add, also, that among the out-of-towners at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkman of Lincoln.

We are sure that there will be many who remember Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Johnson who are former Lincoln residents and who now reside in Arlington, Va. Anyway, last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Johnson entertained at a canape party at their home as a courtesy to Miss Lewis and Mr. Swenson—and needless to say Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Swenson were among the guests.

* * *

The current week has been a busy one for Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III. Last Friday Dr. and Mrs. Brown's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Nelson (Jo Brown) arrived from State College, Pa., for a visit with Mrs. Nelson's parents, and also with Mr. Nelson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will leave on Saturday to return to State College where Mr. Nelson is a member of the Penn State faculty, and where Mrs. Nelson is working toward her Master's degree.

Then, on Wednesday, Miss Brenda Brown planed off to San Juan, Puerto Rico, where she has accepted a position as a medical technologist. There will be a weekend stop in New York City, however, and a visit with Miss Kathy Johnsen of Lincoln who is careering in New York.

NEWS
of suburban areas

This morning's suburban news is a potpourri of activities, spiced by the proverbial variety, and warmed by summer's leftovers of vacation happenings, social goings-on and recently arrived newcomers —plus the promise of a less hectic pace through the days ahead.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Margaret MacKichan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacKichen, returned recently from her summer in the mountains of Kentucky. There she worked with the corps of Appalachian Volunteers sponsored by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity. Her summertime vocation was teaching grades 1 through 8 in an elementary school.

Margaret is a June graduate of Lincoln Southeast High School and she will enroll this fall as a freshman at the University of Nebraska.

Wisconsin was a recent vacation site for Mr. and Mrs. Audun Ravnan and their daughters, Ellen, Kari and Julie. They began their two-week trip with a stop at the home of Mrs. Ravnan's father, Willis Puckett, in Galesburg, Ill. From there they traveled to Evanston to visit with some former college classmates and then on to Milwaukee, Wis., where they boarded a clipper ship for Muskegon.

On the way home, they stopped at Saugatuck, Mich., for a day of swimming and riding the surf. They also arrived back in Galesburg in time to celebrate Mr. Puckett's 65th birthday anniversary.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Essman and their daughters, Jane, Jana and Pam returned home recently from a two-week trip through the Black Hills. Mr. Essman's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Essman, Steve, Sandy and Jean, joined them for the second week of tent-camping and traveling.

PARK MANOR

Other recent vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. David Penterman and their daughter, Bobbi, who spent the majority of August at Lake of the Ozarks, Mo. While there they visited with Mrs. Penterman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Gaskill, and they celebrated Bobbi's 21st birthday on August 14.

Some recent arrivals to Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ludeman who currently reside at 2001 Riviera Dr. The Ludemans are more properly titled returnees, since they are former Lincoln residents. During the last year, Mr. Ludeman completed work on his Master of Science degree in mathematics at the University of Illinois in Urbana. The Ludemans have one daughter, Ermalyn, who is 2.

Aberdeen, Md., is the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Dovenbrager who leave Sept. 16 for a two-week visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hull and their children, Dennis and Denise. The Hulls are recent returnees from one and a half years in Germany, where Mr. Hull was stationed with the Army.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How can I help the man I love overcome his fear of marriage? We are both in our forties and have been married before.

My marriage ended in failure after 19 years, and his was a happy one until his wife died of a lingering illness after ten years. He says he will never marry again because he couldn't bear to go thru the experience of losing another wife. His mother, with whom he lives, is raising his children, and he has a good home with her, so it's not as if he needs a home.

He says he loves me very much and he knows he would never find a better wife, but he just cannot face another marriage. I love him, Abby, and want so desperately to be his wife,. How can I help him get over his fear of marriage?

BREMERTON

DEAR BREMERTON: For a man to deny himself happiness today because he may lose it tomorrow doesn't make much sense. Very few things in life are "forever" —and there are no guarantees. Don't waste too much time on this man if you have marriage in mind. He hasn't.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think a little boy should be before he has his first haircut? I have heard that if a child's hair is curly and you cut it before his first birthday it will grow in straight.

My son is a year old and he has a beautiful head of curls. I would be just sick if I had them cut off and his hair grew in straight after that. He is such a beautiful child, altho many people mistake him for a girl.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Cut the child's hair, and if it grows in straight after that, forget it. Worse things can happen to a boy than losing his curls. And one of them is being constantly mistaken for a girl.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband recently died a very untimely death. He owed me seven months back alimony. How can I collect?

HOLDING THE BAG

DEAR HOLDING: Ask your lawyer if you may file a claim against your former husband's estate for the unpaid sum.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

afternoon wedding

At a candlelight service solemnized Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4, Miss Lois Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Towner Livingston of Nehawka, became the bride of John Meeske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeske of Weeping Water. The lines of the ceremony were read by the Rev. David Anderson of Murray, at the First United Presbyterian Church in Plattsmouth.

Mrs. Dale Switzer of Moline, Ill., as her sister's matron of honor, the maid of honor, Miss Mary Helen Livingston of Nehawka, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sheryl Howell of Lincoln, wore frocks of blue satin.

Serving his brother as best man was Tom Meeske of Weeping Water, and the groomsmen were Jerry Meeske and Gayle Meeske, Omaha; Dale Switzer, Moline, Ill.; Dick Elliott, Weeping Water, John Abbott, Lincoln, Duane Kingston, Arcadia; and Brice Burroughs, Millard.

Bridal Courtesies

Concluding the numerous prenuptial courtesies honoring popular bride-elect, Miss Jon Anne Henderson whose marriage to Ronald Einspahr will be an event of Saturday, was the morning coffee on Wednesday for which the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Clyde P. Henderson, was hostess at her home.

Also honoring Miss Henderson recently was Mrs. Richard Hamilton who entertained at a morning coffee at her home last Friday.

The wedding of Miss Henderson and Mr. Einspahr will take place at a 4 o'clock afternoon service, at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

BIDDING QUIZ

In each of the following hands the question is whether it is better to open the bidding with one notrump or one of a suit. All five hands are taken from world championship matches, and the same opening bid was made at both tables. Assume that both sides are vulnerable and that you are the dealer. What would be your bid in each case?

1. ♠AQ543 ♥Q2 ♦J105 ♣AK7
2. ♠AJ8 ♥A108 ♦AQ109 ♣K106
3. ♠A3 ♥AQ75 ♦KQ654 ♣K7
4. ♠A10 ♥Q82 ♦KJ83 ♣AQ106
5. ♠K7 ♥J54 ♦AQ1098 ♣AQ7

1. One spade. You have 16 high - card points and notrump distribution, but, despite this, it is somewhat better to open with a spade than a notrump. That is what both the Italian and American players did when they held the hand.

A notrump opening is defective for several reasons. Generally, it is not desirable to bid a notrump when you have a good five-card major suit. It is permissible, of course, if that appears to be the best bid to make on a particular hand, but when the hand also lacks stoppers in two suits, it is better to give up on the notrump opening and start with the major suit.

2. One diamond. While a standard notrump shows 16 to 18 points, one should set a limit on the number of plus values a hand may include. If we count the tens, nines and eights present in the hand, it becomes clear that we have the equivalent of a 19- or 20- point hand. We should therefore treat it as such and open one diamond, intending to rebid two notrump over a heart or spade response by partner.

3. One diamond. In this case it is clearly better to open a diamond, intending to show the hearts next. By bidding the suits in reverse order you indicate longer diamonds than hearts and at least 17 points in high cards. Since that is exactly what you have, partner should have no difficulty finding the best contract.

4. One notrump. It is best to open with a notrump whenever this is reasonably possible, because you tell your partner so much about the precise nature of your hand when you do. A club or a diamond opening would not tell your partner that you had 16 to 18 points and a balanced hand.

5. One notrump. Here also it is better to open with a notrump and thus tell partner the approximate nature of your hand. If you opened with a diamond, you would find it difficult to rebid properly if partner's response was either a heart, a spade, a notrump or two clubs.

afternoon wedding

At a candlelight service solemnized Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4, Miss Lois Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Towner Livingston of Nehawka, became the bride of John Meeske, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeske of Weeping Water. The lines of the ceremony were read by the Rev. David Anderson of Murray, at the First United Presbyterian Church in Plattsmouth.

Mrs. Dale Switzer of Moline, Ill., as her sister's matron of honor, the maid of honor, Miss Mary Helen Livingston of Nehawka, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sheryl Howell of Lincoln, wore frocks of blue satin.

Serving his brother as best man was Tom Meeske of Weeping Water, and the groomsmen were Jerry Meeske and Gayle Meeske, Omaha; Dale Switzer, Moline, Ill.; Dick Elliott, Weeping Water; John Abbott, Lincoln; Duane Kingston, Arcadia; and Brice Burroughs, Millard.

Bridal Courtesies

Concluding the numerous prenuptial courtesies honoring popular bride-elect, Miss Jon Anne Henderson whose marriage to Ronald Einspahr will be an event of Saturday, was the morning coffee on Wednesday for which the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Clyde P. Henderson, was hostess at her home.

Also honoring Miss Henderson recently was Mrs. Richard Hamilton who entertained at a morning coffee at her home last Friday.

The wedding of Miss Henderson and Mr. Einspahr will take place at a 4 o'clock afternoon service, at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Big Weekend For Fans

The sports fan who leaves his house this weekend will be doing so for one of three reasons: (1) his television set is broken; or (2) he has to dash to the corner for more refrigerator supplies; or (3) his wife has foiled his plans by scheduling a baby shower for the sweet little girl next door.

And if you're smart, you'll dash out today and buy a little stock in TV dinners, booze or Murine.

You also will need two TV sets Saturday and three on Sunday if you hope to conduct a conversation in your office Monday morning. And this is disregarding those dull filmed things.

Nine Live Events

Nine live events will force their way into your picture box between Saturday noon and 4:30 Sunday afternoon.

You can catch a couple of innings of the St. Louis-Pittsburgh baseball game at noon Saturday on Channel 3 before switching over to Channel 7 for the Clay-Mildenberger heavyweight fight at 12:30.

Within 15 minutes, you'll be back watching the baseball game. Syracuse and Baylor go on at 2 p.m. on Channel 7 and at 3 p.m. on Channel 3, there's the World Series of Golf.

Between 4:30 and 7:30, you play with the kids and grab a bite to eat before tuning in the Colts and Packers at 7:30 p.m. on Channels 6 and 10.

Then it's off to bed because you have another hard day ahead Sunday with Kansas City and Buffalo kicking off at noon on Channel 3; Chicago and Detroit going 15 minutes later on Channels 6 and 10; the U.S. Tennis Championships at 1 p.m. on Channel 7 and the World Series of Golf on Channel 3 at 3 p.m.

Superfan—Good Or Bad

If you see all the above mentioned events, then you've got to fall into the Superfan category and Y. A. Tittle, former pro quarterback, builds a case against the superfan in a booklet, "How To Watch Pro Football On TV."

Tittle describes a superfan as "part of a tiny, noisy cult of so-called pro football experts who get their kicks from arguing and speculating on some of the more obscure points of the game."

Tittle claims, "I think they're missing the boat. And missing the real fun of watching pro football on television . . . You and your brother-in-law are sitting in your living room watching the Lions play the Packers.

"The television network has just called time-out for a commercial. Your brother-in-law turns to you and blithely says, 'Watch Karras on the next play. If he keeps slanting to the outside shoulder of the guard, Schmidt will have to fill the middle. So I'll bet Bart Starr pops the quick look-in to Fleming.'

"Does the fact that Fuzzy Thurston of Green Bay used a fold block on Joe Schmidt really help you enjoy the game? Is it even important? Most of the time Fuzzy Thurston's coach, Vince Lombardi, can't judge the success of a fold block until he sees the game films two or three times. So, how can a fan sitting in his living room make that judgment?"

From reading the book quickly, we'll bet Y. A. hasn't seen many games on television. Unless his TV set is better than ours, he can't possibly see what Karras and Schmidt are doing on the same play.

And instead of writing an entire book on the subject, the simple solution for your superfan brother-in-law is to remind him during that commercial that it's his turn to go to the ice box.

Tittle spends an entire book (57 pages) telling you that the important thing is to watch the ball. But Tittle does offer one concrete suggestion in his list of "12 keys to watching the game." "Don't be understocked," he says. "If you're having friends over to watch the game, remember that pro football, actively watched, demands adequate provisions. Sandwiches, pretzels, potato chips, and beverages are needed. The rule is: overstock."

'Red-Shirt' May Play Important Role For NU

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A sophomore, who had been ticketed for red-shirt status this season, could wind up playing an important role in Nebraska football plans.

Frank Patrick, the 6-6, 206-pound quarterback from Derry, Pa., was moved up to alternate with Wayne Weber on the No. 2 offensive unit Thursday and coach Bob Devaney indicated he would be given every chance to prove his worth.

"We can hardly red-shirt him if he's our second best quarterback," Devaney said after the Thursday afternoon drill. "And he could wind up in that spot."

Plans to red-shirt the tall quarterback were re-evaluated by NU coaches when Weber and Al Fierro were slowed by injuries this fall.

"We want to get a good look at him," Devaney said in discussing Patrick. "And we want to look at him with a unit that has some better players for him to work with."

The back-up quarterback has played a big role in Husker success during the Devaney regime with Fred Duda stepping in for Dennis Claridge three years ago, Bob Churchich stepping into Duda's spot two years ago, and Duda alternating with Churchich last season.

Richard Czap, the 254-pound defensive tackle who has been sidelined with a back injury suffered in an auto accident before the start of fall camp, returned to workouts for the first time Thursday, but starting left halfback Ron Kirkland was still absent.

Thursday's drills were halted momentarily to offer protection for a newly-born brood of rabbits on the practice field.

The baby rabbits were discovered while the No. 3 offensive unit was working against the No. 1 defensive outfit. Devaney moved the two units away from the area and jerseys were placed in a circle around the rabbits to protect them.

Lincoln Entries Post No Wins

. . . AT STATE FAIR

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wis., swept the feature and the opening heat as local drivers went without a win in Thursday's supermodified Midwest Championship at the Nebraska State Fair.

Bigelow jumped off to a big lead and was never headed after the second restart in the 25-lap feature.

Blundy, however, tangled with Lincoln's Lloyd Beckman late in the race and both spun out. Beckman was restarted but Blundy elected to retire for the day rather than drop to the back of the pack.

Bigelow was confident but not cocky after grabbing his early lead.

"I knew Leep was back there," Bigelow said. "But I thought I could stay ahead if I held it straight and smooth.

It was the first time Bigelow had run in the Fair's supermodified races. Last year he ran second, third, and fourth in the three sprint features but had to pass them up this year after he blew his sprint engine in Sedalia, Mo., recently.

It was Bigelow's fifth feature win this year in his No. 41 racer, a new Chevy-powered car owned by Mel Moffitt of Port Byron, Ill.

Bigelow, the 1965 IMCA co-rookie of the year along with Bill Puterbaugh of Roxana, Ill., last week had won the modified championship at the Minnesota State Fair at St. Paul.

Local drivers were unable to win an event Thursday but picked up seconds in every race.

Beckman was runnerup to Bigelow in the opening heat and Kenny Gritz of Lincoln was second to Blundy in the next race, marred by a serious accident which sent local driver Charles Jordan to the hospital with a bad cut over the right eye.

The third race saw Lincoln's Little Joe Saldana finish second to Leep, while George Odvody of Morse Bluff, a regular at Midwest Speedway, was runnerup to Woodside in the fourth heat.

Odvody was the highest-finishing Lincoln-area driver in the feature with his fourth-place effort. The consolation race was won by Dave Milbourn of Omaha.

Saldano, one of the youngest drivers in the field at 21, was running well and had a shot at fourth after Blundy and Beckman spun out, but Saldana burned up his engine late in the race and had to retire.

"I sure wish I could have finished that feature," said the disappointed Saldana. "That fourth place pays pretty good money."

Besides the accident involving Jordan, an earlier mishap had injured two other men. Dick Prince, a member of Lincolnite Tom Fisher's pit crew, suffered a cracked rib when he was hit by a car which pulled into the pit area too fast. Fisher suffered a bruised knee.

Thursday's attendance was estimated at 3,500.

First Heat (10 laps)

Santana Wins Close Verdict

Forest Hills, N.Y. (AP)—Manuel Santana of Spain, the U.S. and Wimbledon titleholder, survived a dramatic three-hour marathon against Australian second-stringer Bill Bowrey Thursday and went into the men's semifinals of the National Tennis Championships with Australian giant-killer, John Newcombe.

Hobbling on a heavily taped right ankle and calling on all his court craftsmanship, the Spaniard outlasted the plucky Aussie 6-8, 6-2, 8-6, 5-7, 6-4.

Santana had to rally from 0-3 in the final set in a match that kept a gallery of several thousand well past the dinner hour at the West Side Tennis Club.

The unseeded Newcombe, conqueror of America's Arthur Ashe in the third round, won a weird, up-and-down battle from Britain's blond bomber, Mark Cox, 3-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., scored a 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Britain's Virginia Wade. The victory put the Texas girl in the semifinals against Australia's 19-year-old Kerry Melville.

Peru Linemen Will Probably Play 2 Ways

Peru—Ervin Pitts, Peru State College head football coach, mixed pessimism with optimism following this week's hour football scrimmage.

"We looked ragged offensively," Pitts said grimly. Part of the blame lies in the washed-out Saturday drills, "and some of our timing was lost over the weekend," Pitts said.

"Right now," he continued, "our big problems seem to be to find more guards and tackles ready to play." Apparently postponed for the time being is an earlier hope to field separate offensive and defensive teams.

As the situation appears now, Peru State guards and tackles will have to go both ways until some of the younger gridders gain experience.

Pitts lamented the fact that the Bobcat offensive backfield lacks good offensive speed. Lost from last year's starting quartet is halfback Curt Holliman, an academic casualty from Rockford, Ill., and fullback Jim Kollbaum, the bruising runner from Battle Creek, Iowa.

The scrimmage, however, was not all on the dark side. Pitts lauded the line play of Bill Everhart, sophomore from Bedford, Iowa; Bernie Brown, two-time Nebraska College Conference guard selection from Rockford, Ill.; and John Gilmore, NCC tackle choice last year from Shenandoah, Iowa.

Rockets, Fremont In Lincoln Opener

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Plus X travels to South Sioux City, Lincoln High goes to Columbus and Southeast travels to North Platte in the other opening week contests.

Bauer, who likes to platoon if possible, will be able to switch about six or seven men when the ball changes hands.

Tackles Wally Winter and Bill Fagler and end Wayne Summers are certain to see two-way duty and linebacker Dave Mann will probably see some backfield duty on offense.

With Chris Rosenstock returning to action sooner than anticipated after a pre-season injury the Rockets will have 11 lettermen ready to face the Tigers.

Southeast draws the toughest opening week assignment, facing a veteran North Platte club in a Trans-Nebraska Conference contest. The two teams battled to a scoreless tie last year.

Lincoln High, which last met Columbus in 1927, renews its rivalry with the Discoverers and will be meeting a good-sized club.

Coach Andy Loehr's primary concern the past week has been the flu bug, which has hit several members of his varsity squad. Most should be ready for the opener, however.

Pius X, an easy winner over South Sioux City a year ago, should have more trouble this time, but still draws a favored role in its opener.

Cassius Wants 20 Title Bouts

. . . CHAMP 10-1 FAVORITE

Frankfurt, Germany (AP) — Cassius Clay said Thursday he aimed to defend his heavyweight crown at least 20 times, an indication that he thought nobody was around to take it away from him.

Clay is a 10-1 favorite to retain the title after soft touch defenses this year against Canada's George Chuvalo and Britain's Brian London and Henry Cooper.

"I'm looking past Mildenberger," Clay told newsmen.

"I'm looking past them all. But it's getting harder and harder to get up in the morning and if somebody can catch me out of condition maybe they will get me—but I doubt it."

Clay thought his next title defense would be against Cleveland Williams in Houston, Tex., in eight weeks followed by another one against Ernie Terrell in Chicago or New York another eight weeks later.

"There's a possible title shot for the winner of the Henry Cooper-Floyd Patterson fight in London Sept. 20," he said.

"I just want to be a busy world champion. Nobody has to wait on the sidelines to meet me if they are a contender."

Clay said his defense against Mildenberger will be a little bit harder because of the German's left-handed stance.

"I was beaten twice by southpaws as an amateur," said Clay. "Amos Johnson and Johnny Hampton beat me. But I won the Olympic title in Rome in 1960 by beating a Polish southpaw."

Clay stopped Cooper in the sixth round on May 21 and knocked out London in the third round on Aug. 6. He was hardly touched in either of the fights.

The champion outpointed Chuvalo in Toronto on March 29 so this will be his fourth title defense this year and his sixth in all.

"I'm the busiest heavyweight since Joe Louis," Clay said.

"And I'm fighting when the taxes get higher and higher.

Clay said he thought his fists and brought in $5 million—before tax reduction—and said: "What will I come out of this fight with? Something like $150,000 after tax deduction."

Clay has been guaranteed $250,000 plus a percentage of the television rights. Mildenberger was guaranteed $15,000 and a percentage of the gate receipts at Wald Stadium.

The fight will be telecast by closed circuit to theaters in London and also will be telecast by Early Bird Satellite to the United States. The U.S. television by ABC will start at 12:30 p.m., CST. The fight will start about 1 p.m.

Pro Football Merger Hits Legal Block

Washington (AP)—The National and American Football Leagues received a setback in Congress Thursday in their proposed merger, but the head of the House Antitrust subcommittee advised them to go ahead with their plan.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and its antitrust subcommittee, refused a plea from NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for legislation to exempt the merger from antitrust laws.

Celler told Rozelle, however, to go ahead with the proposals to combine the two leagues into a 26-team circuit in 25 cities because neither the Justice Department nor any individual has filed suit attacking the proposal.

"I told him I can't see any reason for them not to go ahead with their plans," Celler said. "There hasn't been any suit filed or any questions raised.

"I told him not to worry and go ahead and try it."

Last week, Rozelle said, "If we cannot get our bill through, we will have to re-evaluate the picture and the result could be chaotic.

"We could be back where we started—nowhere."

O-State Still On 2-A-Days, Nine Sparkle

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State University pushed for additional improvement and refined patterns in two brisk workouts Thursday as Coach Phil Cutchin readied team for single daily drills.

"I'd like to get to one-a-day practices as soon as possible," Cutchin said. "No, we haven't set a target date. Right now, we're playing everything by ear.

Cutchin cited nine defensive players as outstanding in Thursday's practices. They were tackle Dennis Randall, guard David Davis, ends Bill Young and Doug Cathey and halfback Willard Nahrang.

From the offensive unit he named guard J. D. Christian, tackle John Matlock and ends Tony Sellari and Jerry Philpott.

Huskers Still Head Writers' Title Choices

Kansas City (AP)—Nebraska's defending Big Eight football champions remained the title favorite in a poll of newsmen finishing the Skywriters tour Wednesday, but second-ranked Colorado gained ground over an earlier poll conducted by Kansas.

Nebraska won 15 first place votes, Colorado seven, and Missouri the other two. Scoring one point for first, two for second, etc., Nebraska had 32 points, Colorado 42, Missouri 60, Iowa State 90, Oklahoma 110, Oklahoma State 138, Kansas 141 and Kansas State 176.

In the annual August poll conducted by Kansas, Oklahoma was fourth and Iowa State fifth, far behind the Sooners. Otherwise the teams finished in the same order.

Colorado was a first-place choice on six of 100 ballots in the Kansas poll, with Missouri the choice on three.

Big Weekend For Fans

The sports fan who leaves his house this weekend will be doing so for one of three reasons: (1) his television set is broken; or (2) he has to dash to the corner for more refrigerator supplies; or (3) his wife has foiled his plans by scheduling a baby shower for the sweet little girl next door.

And if you're smart, you'll dash out today and buy a little stock in TV dinners, booze or Murine.

You also will need two TV sets Saturday and three on Sunday if you hope to conduct a conversation in your office Monday morning. And this is disregarding those dull filmed things.

Nine Live Events

Nine live events will force their way into your picture box between Saturday noon and 4:30 Sunday afternoon.

You can catch a couple of innings of the St. Louis-Pittsburgh baseball game at noon Saturday on Channel 3 before switching over to Channel 7 for the Clay-Mildenberger heavyweight fight at 12:30.

Within 15 minutes, you'll be back watching the baseball game. Syracuse and Baylor go on at 2 p.m. on Channel 7 and at 3 p.m. on Channel 3, there's the World Series of Golf.

Between 4:30 and 7:30, you play with the kids and grab a bite to eat before tuning in the Colts and Packers at 7:30 p.m. on Channels 6 and 10.

Then it's off to bed because you have another hard day ahead Sunday with Kansas City and Buffalo kicking off at noon on Channel 3; Chicago and Detroit going 15 minutes later on Channels 6 and 10; the U.S. Tennis Championships at 1 p.m. on Channel 7 and the World Series of Golf on Channel 3 at 3 p.m.

Superfan—Good Or Bad

If you see all the above mentioned events, then you've got to fall into the Superfan category and Y. A. Tittle, former pro quarterback, builds a case against the superfan in a booklet, "How To Watch Pro Football On TV."

Tittle describes a superfan as "part of a tiny, noisy cult of so-called pro football experts who get their kicks from arguing and speculating on some of the more obscure points of the game."

Tittle claims, "I think they're missing the boat. And missing the real fun of watching pro football on television . . . You and your brother-in-law are sitting in your living room watching the Lions play the Packers.

"The television network has just called time-out for a commercial. Your brother-in-law turns to you and blithely says, 'Watch Karras on the next play. If he keeps slanting to the outside shoulder of the guard, Schmidt will have to fill the middle. So I'll bet Bart Starr pops the quick look-in to Fleming.'

"Does the fact that Fuzzy Thurston of Green Bay used a fold block on Joe Schmidt really help you enjoy the game? Is it even important? Most of the time Fuzzy Thurston's coach, Vince Lombardi, can't judge the success of a fold block until he sees the game films two or three times. So, how can a fan sitting in his living room make that judgment?"

From reading the book quickly, we'll bet Y. A. hasn't seen many games on television. Unless his TV set is better than ours, he can't possibly see what Karras and Schmidt are doing on the same play.

And instead of writing an entire book on the subject, the simple solution for your superfan brother-in-law is to remind him during that commercial that it's his turn to go to the ice box.

Tittle spends an entire book (57 pages) telling you that the important thing is to watch the ball. But Tittle does offer one concrete suggestion in his list of "12 keys to watching the game." "Don't be understocked," he says. "If you're having friends over to watch the game, remember that pro football, actively watched, demands adequate provisions. Sandwiches, pretzels, potato chips, and beverages are needed. The rule is: overstock."

'Red-Shirt' May Play Important Role For NU

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

A sophomore, who had been ticketed for red-shirt status this season, could wind up playing an important role in Nebraska football plans.

Frank Patrick, the 6-6, 206-pound quarterback from Derry, Pa., was moved up to alternate with Wayne Weber on the No. 2 offensive unit Thursday and coach Bob Devaney indicated he would be given every chance to prove his worth.

"We can hardly red-shirt him if he's our second best quarterback," Devaney said after the Thursday afternoon drill. "And he could wind up in that spot."

Plans to red-shirt the tall quarterback were re-evaluated by NU coaches when Weber and Al Fierro were slowed by injuries this fall.

"We want to get a good look at him," Devaney said in discussing Patrick. "And we want to look at him with a unit that has some better players for him to work with."

The back-up quarterback has played a big role in Husker success during the Devaney regime with Fred Duda stepping in for Dennis Claridge three years ago, Bob Churchich stepping into Duda's spot two years ago, and Duda alternating with Churchich last season.

Richard Czap, the 254-pound defensive tackle who has been sidelined with a back injury suffered in an auto accident before the start of fall camp, returned to workouts for the first time Thursday, but starting left halfback Ron Kirkland was still absent.

Thursday's drills were halted momentarily to offer protection for a newly-born brood of rabbits on the practice field.

The baby rabbits were discovered while the No. 3 offensive unit was working against the No. 1 defensive outfit. Devaney moved the two units away from the area and jerseys were placed in a circle around the rabbits to protect them.

Lincoln Entries Post No Wins . . . AT STATE FAIR

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wis., swept the feature and the opening heat as local drivers went without a win in Thursday's supermodified Midwest Championship at the Nebraska State Fair.

Bigelow jumped off to a big lead and was never headed after the second restart in the 25-lap feature.

Blundy, however, tangled with Lincoln's Lloyd Beckman late in the race and both spun out. Beckman was restarted but Blundy elected to retire for the day rather than drop to the back of the pack.

Bigelow was confident but not cocky after grabbing his early lead.

"I knew Leep was back there," Bigelow said, "But I thought I could stay ahead if I held it straight and smooth.

It was the first time Bigelow had run in the Fair's supermodified races. Last year he ran second, third, and fourth in the three sprint features but had to pass them up this year after he blew his sprint engine in Sedalia, Mo., recently.

It was Bigelow's fifth feature win this year in his No. 41 racer, a new Chevy-powered car owned by Mel Moffitt of Port Byron, Ill.

Bigelow, the 1965 IMCA co-rookie of the year along with Bill Puterbaugh of Roxana, Ill., last week had won the modified championship at the Minnesota State Fair at St. Paul.

Local drivers were unable to win an event Thursday but picked up seconds in every race.

Beckman was runnerup to Bigelow in the opening heat and Kenny Gritz of Lincoln was second to Blundy in the next race, marred by a serious accident which sent local driver Charles Jordan to the hospital with a bad cut over the right eye.

The third race saw Lincoln's Little Joe Saldana finish second to Leep, while George Odvody of Morse Bluff, a regular at Midwest Speedway, was runnerup to Woodside in the fourth heat.

Odvody was the highest-finishing Lincoln-area driver in the feature with his fourth-place effort. The consolation race was won by Dave Milbourn of Omaha.

Saldano, one of the youngest drivers in the field at 21, was running well and had a shot at fourth after Blundy and Beckman spun out, but Saldana burned up his engine late in the race and had to retire.

"I sure wish I could have finished that feature," said the disappointed Saldana. "That fourth place pays pretty good money."

Besides the accident involving Jordan, an earlier mishap had injured two other men. Dick Prince, a member of Lincolnite Tom Fisher's pit crew, suffered a cracked rib when he was hit by a car which pulled into the pit area too fast. Fisher suffered a bruised knee.

Cassius Wants 20 Title Bouts

"I just want to be a busy world champion. Nobody has to wait on the sidelines to meet me if they are a contender."

Clay said his defense against Mildenberger will be a little bit harder because of the German's left-handed stance.

"I was beaten twice by southpaws as an amateur," said Clay. "Amos Johnson and Johnny Hampton beat me. But I won the Olympic title in Rome in 1960 by beating a Polish southpaw."

Clay stopped Cooper in the sixth round on May 21 and knocked out London in the third round on Aug. 6. He was hardly touched in either of the fights.

The champion outpointed Chuvalo in Toronto on March 29 so this will be his fourth title defense this year and his sixth in all.

"I'm the busiest heavyweight since Joe Louis," Clay said.

"And I'm fighting when the taxes get higher and higher.

Clay said he thought his fists and brought in $5 million—before tax reduction—and said: "What will I come out of this fight with? Something like $150,000 after tax deduction."

Clay has been guaranteed $250,000 plus a percentage of the television rights. Mildenberger was guaranteed $15,000 and a percentage of the gate receipts at Wald Stadium.

The fight will be telecast by closed circuit to theaters in London and also will be telecast by Early Bird Satellite to the United States. The U.S. television by ABC will start at 12:30 p.m., CST. The fight will start about 1 p.m.

O-State Still On 2-A-Days, Nine Sparkle

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State University pushed for additional improvement and refined patterns in two brisk workouts Thursday as Coach Phil Cutchin readied team for single daily drills.

"I'd like to get to one-a-day practices as soon as possible," Cutchin said. "No, we haven't set a target date. Right now, we're playing everything by ear.

Cutchin cited nine defensive players as outstanding in Thursday's practices. They were tackle Dennis Randall, guard David Davis, ends Bill Young and Doug Cathey and halfback Willard Nahrang.

From the offensive unit he named guard J. D. Christian, tackle John Matlock and ends Tony Sellari and Jerry Philpott.

SF, LA Have Best Schedules

. . . BUCS MOSTLY ON ROAD

By Associated Press

The National League heads into its usual sizzling stretch with the three leaders only 1½ games apart. And if the pattern holds, the pennant will be decided in the state of Pennsylvania in the last three days of the season.

That's when the San Francisco Giants invade Pittsburgh for the final three games and Los Angeles journeys to Philadelphia for a three-game set. The Phillies, 6½ games back of the pace, may be in the running by then.

A rained out game between the Giants at Cincinnati Aug. 10 also could prove to be a vital factor in the pressure struggle. That was the last listed game between the two clubs and has not yet been rescheduled.

The National League will set a date for the game if it proves necessary. Right now it appears an essential piece of business..

The remaining schedule favors the Giants and Dodgers, who have finished playing each other. If the slumping Pirates, losers of their last three games, capture the pennant they're going to have to do it the hard way.

The Pirates must play 15 of their last 21 on the road. They have three games left with the Dodgers, all at Los Angeles; seven with the Giants, four of them in San Francisco, and three with the Phillies, all in Philadelphia. The other games are with the Cards (3), Astros (1), and Braves (4).

San Francisco has 13 at home and nine away if the rained out game with the Reds is played in Cincinnati. The Giants have seven to play with the Pirates, four of them at home, and two with the Phils at home. The other games are with the Cubs (4), Mets (3), Astros (2), and Braves (3).

The Dodgers, with 13 at home and their last 11 on the road, have one three-game set with the Pirates at home and seven with the Phillies, four of them at Los Angeles. The other games are with the Astros (4), Mets (2), Cubs (4), and Cards (4).

Miami Activates Receiving Star

Miami, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Dolphins Thursday activated split end Howard Twilley, who caught 134 passes in his senior year at the University of Tulsa and who holds several NCAA receiving records.

Twilley suffered a knee injury last spring. The team physician pronounced his knee sound Wednesday.

Also placed on the active roster was Billy Hunter, a flanker-running back who spent last year with the Washington Redskins.

Cleveland Browns Ink Fullback Pietrosante

Cleveland (AP)—The Cleveland Browns announced the signing Thursday of fullback Nick Pietrosante who was put on waivers last week by the Detroit Lions.

Pietrosante, who will be 29 Saturday, will be in a uniform Sunday for the Browns' National Football League opener against the Washington Redskins.

Bastein New Coach For Pittsburgh Icers

Pittsburgh (AP) — General Manager "Baz" Bastein was named coach of the Pittsburgh Hornets Thursday for their final American Hockey League season.

K-State Offense Lacks Big Drive

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)— The running and passing of quarterback Bill Nossek was the feature of a controlled scrimmage by the Kansas State Wildcats Thursday.

In 40 minutes with the first string, sophomore Nossek carried the ball 14 times for 104 yards and hit nine of 13 passes for 66 yards. He scored twice, on runs of one and seven yards.

Kearney State Track Star Feted By AAU

KU Secondary Worries Coach

Omaha Mustangs Sign Quarterback

Omaha (UPI)—The Omaha Mustangs announced Thursday the club has signed quarterback Ken Berry, record-breaking star of San Jose State for three years.

While at San Jose State, Berry established a school career passing record of 3,800 yards, set a single game passing record of 355 yards and last year tossed for five touchdowns in a single game.

He is a brother to Bob Berry, Minnesota Vikings quarterback.

Bowling Official Holds Workshop At Omaha

Omaha — Ken Hurley, Milwaukee, manager of the American Bowling Congress Rules department, will conduct a workshop session to highlight the 8th annual Nebraska State Bowling Jamboree to be held at the Ranch Bowl here Sept. 18.

Officials of all local associations in the state have been invited to attend. Last year nearly 100 turned out for the event in Sidney.

Missouri's First Units Scrimmage

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Coach Dan Devine matched Missouri's No. 1 offensive and defensive units against each other in a 30-minute "situation" scrimmage Thursday. He said it was the only time the two units would face each other this season. There were no injuries.

Devine said Henry White, a sophomore fullback from Carrollton, is undergoing medical tests to determine whether he should continue with football. White's condition is not football-related, Devine said, and was discovered the day before practice began.

Cyclones Point Toward Badgers

Iowa State Elects Grid Co-Captains

Patriots Activate Defensive Back Johnson Of NU

Andover, Mass. (AP)—The Boston Patriots Thursday asked waivers on reserve quarterback Tommy Yewcic. Yewcic, a kicking specialist and back-up for quarterback Babe Parilli, has been troubled by a back injury.

Preparing for their weekend season opener at San Diego, the Patriots also reactivated defensive back Bill Johnson of the University of Nebraska and added defensive tackle Ed Khayat, a nine-year veteran of the National Football League, to their roster.

Harris In Lineup For Buff Opener

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — End Sam Harris, who missed the first week of Colorado University's football practice with a pulled muscle, will be in the starting lineup Sept. 17 against Miami, Coach Eddie Crowder said Thursday.

Harris, who returned to practice Wednesday, came through his first two days of contact work in good condition and will start at defensive left end. Mike Martin will be in his old spot at offensive tight end.

The Buffalo squad ran through what Crowder said might be their last two-a-day practice Thursday. A full scrimmage — behind locked gates for the first time this fall—is on tap Friday afternoon.

SF, LA Have Best Schedules

. . . BUCS MOSTLY ON ROAD

By Associated Press

The National League heads into its usual sizzling stretch with the three leaders only 1½ games apart. And if the pattern holds, the pennant will be decided in the state of Pennsylvania in the last three days of the season.

That's when the San Francisco Giants invade Pittsburgh for the final three games and Los Angeles journeys to Philadelphia for a three-game set. The Phillies, 6½ games back of the pace, may be in the running by then.

A rained out game between the Giants at Cincinnati Aug. 10 also could prove to be a vital factor in the pressure struggle. That was the last listed game between the two clubs and has not yet been rescheduled.

The remaining schedule favors the Giants and Dodgers, who have finished playing each other. If the slumping Pirates, losers of their last three games, capture the pennant they're going to have to do it the hard way.

The Pirates must play 15 of their last 21 on the road. They have three games left with the Dodgers, all at Los Angeles; seven with the Giants, four of them in San Francisco, and three with the Phillies, all in Philadelphia. The other games are with the Cards (3), Astros (1), and Braves (4).

San Francisco has 13 at home and nine away if the rained out game with the Reds is played in Cincinnati. The Giants have seven to play with the Pirates, four of them at home, and two with the Phils at home. The other games are with the Cubs (4), Mets (3), Astros (2), and Braves (3).

The Dodgers, with 13 at home and their last 11 on the road, have one three-game set with the Pirates at home and seven with the Phillies, four of them at Los Angeles. The other games are with the Astros (4), Mets (2), Cubs (4), and Cards (4).

Miami Activates Receiving Star

Miami, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Dolphins Thursday activated split end Howard Twilley, who caught 134 passes in his senior year at the University of Tulsa and who holds several NCAA receiving records.

Twilley suffered a knee injury last spring. The team physician pronounced his knee sound Wednesday.

Also placed on the active roster was Billy Hunter, a flanker-running back who spent last year with the Washington Redskins.

Cleveland Browns Ink Fullback Pietrosante

Cleveland (AP)—The Cleveland Browns announced the signing Thursday of fullback Nick Pietrosante who was put on waivers last week by the Detroit Lions.

Pietrosante, who will be 29 Saturday, will be in a uniform Sunday for the Browns' National Football League opener against the Washington Redskins.

Bastein New Coach For Pittsburgh Icers

Pittsburgh (AP) — General Manager "Baz" Bastein was named coach of the Pittsburgh Hornets Thursday for their final American Hockey League season.

Bastein, who succeeds Eddie Bush, will return to coaching for the fourth time in his 17-year career in Pittsburgh.

The Lincoln Prairie Bowmen will conduct their second annual Bowhunters Seminar at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the field range two miles south of Lincoln on Highway 77.

K-State Offense Lacks Big Drive

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)— The running and passing of quarterback Bill Nossek was the feature of a controlled scrimmage by the Kansas State Wildcats Thursday.

In 40 minutes with the first string, sophomore Nossek carried the ball 14 times for 104 yards and hit nine of 13 passes for 66 yards. He scored twice, on runs of one and seven yards.

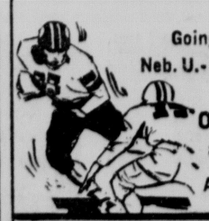

The first team scored three times in its 10 series of downs.

"Our offensive team played well in the middle of the field, but we still can't sustain a drive," said Coach Doug Weaver. "I don't know if we will be effective enough to be a good offensive team."

Kearney State Track Star Feted By AAU

Dennis McGraw, Elwood senior, will be recognized as the outstanding track man in Nebraska by the Midwest AAU Saturday.

As a high jumper at Kearney State' he is the Nebraska College Conference champion with a height of 6-8; holds the Midwest AAU indoor record at 6-6; the AAU outdoor mark at 6-6; and placed in the national NAIA all three years, jumping 6-8 last June for the second best height.

KU Secondary Worries Coach

Lawrence, Kan. (AP)—Kansas had a 45-minute game-type scrimmage Thursday, the second in three days.

Coach Jack Mitchell said his team needed "more tough opposition. The first defensive unit reacts well but I'm worried about the secondary because of inexperience."

Another scrimmage, closed to the public, is set for Saturday.

Omaha Mustangs Sign Quarterback

Omaha (UPI)—The Omaha Mustangs announced Thursday the club has signed quarterback Ken Berry, record-breaking star of San Jose State for three years.

While at San Jose State, Berry established a school career passing record of 3,800 yards, set a single game passing record of 355 yards and last year tossed for five touchdowns in a single game.

He is a brother to Bob Berry, Minnesota Vikings quarterback.

Bowling Official Holds Workshop At Omaha

Omaha — Ken Hurley, Milwaukee, manager of the American Bowling Congress Rules department, will conduct a workshop session to highlight the 8th annual Nebraska State Bowling Jamboree to be held at the Ranch Bowl here Sept. 18.

Officials of all local associations in the state have been invited to attend. Last year nearly 100 turned out for the event in Sidney.

Missouri's First Units Scrimmage

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Coach Dan Devine matched Missouri's No. 1 offensive and defensive units against each other in a 30-minute "situation" scrimmage Thursday. He said it was the only time the two units would face each other this season. There were no injuries.

Devine said Henry White, a sophomore fullback from Carrollton, is undergoing medical tests to determine whether he should continue with football. White's condition is not football-related, Devine said, and was discovered the day before practice began.

Cyclones Point Toward Badgers

Ames, Iowa (AP)—Coach Clay Stapleton closed the practice field gates Thursday as his Iowa State football team got down to specific preparations for the Sept 17 season opener at Wisconsin.

The Cyclones, who have been working out twice a day since Aug. 29, switched to a single drill.

Iowa State Elects Grid Co-Captains

The team selected guard Bob Evans, defensive captain and tackle Dick Schafroth to act on offense.

Beatrice College Lists Cage Slate For First Season

The new college here will play its home games at the city auditorium with a 7:30 p.m. starting time. Bob Gates is head coach with Frank Willever assisting.

The schedule:

Nov. 25-26—at Colby, Kan., Tournament; Dec. 3—Freeman JC; 9—at Colby, Kan.; 10—at St. Mary's, Kan.; 13—at Briar Cliff; 17—at Cloud County; 19—at Hiram Scott; 20—at North Platte JC; Jan. 7—Missouri Western JC; 13—Wahoo JFK; 14—at Freeman JC; 17—Cloud County; 21—Colby, Kan.; 23—at Tarkio, Mo.; 28—Briar Cliff; Feb. 4—St. Mary's; Feb. 7—at Wahoo JFK; 9—at Missouri Western JC; 10—at Park College; 11—North Platte JC; 18—Hiram Scott.

Haynie Captures Women's Lead In Eugene Golf

Eugene, Ore. (AP) — Sandra Haynie shot a two-under-par 70 Thursday and took the first round lead in the Pacific Ladies Professional Golf Classic.

The Fort Worth, Tex. golfer held a one-shot lead over defending champion Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss., and Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., going into Friday's second round.

Miss Mills covered the par-72, 6,610-yard Eugene Country Club course in 36-35—71 while Miss Creed, who finished in a tie for third in last year's Classic, had nine-hole scores of 37-34.

Patriots Activate Defensive Back Johnson Of NU

Andover, Mass. (AP)—The Boston Patriots Thursday asked waivers on reserve quarterback Tommy Yewcic. Yewcic, a kicking specialist and back-up for quarterback Babe Parilli, has been troubled by a back injury.

Preparing for their weekend season opener at San Diego, the Patriots also reactivated defensive back Bill Johnson of the University of Nebraska and added defensive tackle Ed Khayat, a nine-year veteran of the National Football League, to their roster.

Harris In Lineup For Buff Opener

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — End Sam Harris, who missed the first week of Colorado University's football practice with a pulled muscle, will be in the starting lineup Sept. 17 against Miami, Coach Eddie Crowder said Thursday.

Harris, who returned to practice Wednesday, came through his first two days of contact work in good condition and will start at defensive left end. Mike Martin will be in his old spot at offensive tight end.

The Buffalo squad ran through what Crowder said might be their last two-a-day practice Thursday. A full scrimmage — behind locked gates for the first time this fall—is on tap Friday afternoon.

Packers, Chiefs Opening Picks

. . . TOP GAME ON TV

New York (AP)—Can the Baltimore Colts, with Johnny Unitas, beat the Green Bay Packers? Can the Buffalo Bills, with sore-armed Jack Kemp, hold off Kansas City?

Those are the two biggest questions on this week's pro football schedule, and only a Perfect Peerless Prognasticator would dare try to answer them.

But since the PPP passed up last week's opening three-game AFL program for an additional week of training, the record still is perfect, so here goes (all games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

National League

Green Bay 21, Baltimore 14 Saturday night at Milwaukee—The game will be televised nationally by CBS and it's more than likely that the champ will be on display. With 30-year-old Paul Hornung running like 26-year-old Paul Hornung, the Packers are ready to duplicate their playoff victory over the Colts, with or without Unitas.

Cleveland 35, Washington 17—The Browns will be without Jim Brown for the first time in nine years, but Leroy Kelly has stepped in and made a strong showing. Sonny Jurgensen needs one completion for No. 1,000 of his career. He'll get it. The Browns will get the victory.

Los Angeles 28, Atlanta 14—George Allen of the Rams and Norb Hecker of the Falcons make their coaching debuts but Allen, with Roman Gabriel installed as the No. 1 quarterback, will get to the victory circle first.

Chicago 24, Detroit 10—Gale Sayers makes the Bears growl. The Lions, who just let fullback Nick Pietrosante go, still have an inconsistent offense and may be having behind-the-scene problems too.

Minnesota 35, San Francisco 28—A wide open affair between two offensive-minded teams. The Vikings would seem to have the edge because John Brodie, the 49er quarterback, reported late with his $$$.

Pittsburgh 17, New York 10—The Steelers have a rookie fullback in Bill Asbury of Kent State but that's not as bad as not having one, which may be the Giants' problem with Tucker Frederickson lost for the season.

St. Louis 31, Philadelphia 21—Charley Winner starts off a winner in his pro coaching debut. Charley Johnson of the Cardinals should have the edge over Norm Snead in a battle of quarterbacks who underwent off-season surgery.

American League

Kansas City 28, Buffalo 24—The Chiefs are strong contenders for the Western crown and should be able to handle the Bills, who have run into trouble because Kemp still is being plagued with a sore arm that has cut down his efficiency. The game will be nationally televised by NBC and the Bills could wind up 0-2 in defense of their Eastern crown.

New York 28, Miami 7 Friday night—The Jets, picked by many to upset the Bills in the Eastern race, have to start proving it. Big question is who starts at quarterback: Mike Taliaferro or Joe Namath? This game also gets NBC television treatment.

Oakland 31, Houston 28 Saturday night—Each team has one victory. Raiders over Miami and Oilers over Broncos, which means there isn't a good line on either. The guess here is the Raiders by a shade in a high-scoring battle.

San Deigo 24, Boston 17—The Chargers, who opened with an impressive victory over Buffalo, will have to watch out for a letdown. That may be more difficult than watching out for the Patriots.

Willie Mays' Feat Lifts Pressure

San Francisco (AP)—When the pressure is on Willie Mays, he puts it on the other side.

With two out in the top of the 12th inning Wednesday night at Los Angeles and the score tied 2-2, Dodger pitcher Joe Moeller missed with his first three pitches to Willie.

Respecting the power of the 35-year-old homerun champion and knowing he was injured, Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers ordered him walked intentionally even though it put a potential winning run on base.

Ignoring the groin muscle he pulled on Monday night, Mays raced around third and hesitated a split second. Then he sped toward home, apparently beaten by second baseman Jim Lefebvre's relay to catcher John Roseboro.

As Willie slid into the catcher, the ball popped onto the ground. The run brought San Francisco a 3-2 victory.

"I think I saw Lefebvre draw back and then start running toward the infield with the ball," Mays explained. "It's hard to throw when you're running. I wanted to win the ball game."

Roseboro claimed Willie kicked the ball from his grasp. Mays said "I don't know what happened and I'm not going to ask."

Manager Herman Franks said "Willie was really hurting when he came in after scoring the run but he wouldn't come out.

After Monday's injury, Franks moved Mays from his centerfield station to another outfield position so he wouldn't be forced to run as much defensively.

Tuesday night he collected his 34th homer of the season and 539th of his career as the Giants won 6-0. Wednesday night he drew a walk from Sandy Koufax in the first inning with two out and scored when Jim Hart homered.

In the eighth, Franks moved Willie from rightfield to left field defensively. After Willie Davis tripled, the Giant star came up with a shoestring catch of a Tommy Davis drive. Although the runner scored, the catch could have kept the Dodgers from victory since Lefebvre, the next batter, singled before Roseboro hit into a double play.

This was in the night's work for the man who has had tremendous pressures all season

On the other hand, a VW does make some things smaller.

Gas bills, for instance. (At 29 mpg, they may be half what you pay now.)

Or a Volkswagen for $1699.90.

THUNDERBOLT
Ignition

First from Mercury in '66—Finest by far in '67. Now on 4 models—50 to 110 HP—and with no breaker points to wear out! Only Mercury has Thunderbolt—a super-power electronic ignition—now without breakers and available as standard equipment on all 95- and 110-HP models and on 50- and 65-HP electric-starting models with alternators. With Thunderbolt, there's no need for periodic adjustments to plugs and points—timing never needs resetting. Exclusive Polar-Gap spark plugs last seasons—not hours! Pre-ignition, even with highly leaded fuels, is virtually unknown! Engine efficiency and reliability are dramatically increased! Idling is silken-smooth, plug fouling is forgotten. Thunderbolt fires new four and six cylinder Mercs with lightning speed and power.

New Thunderbolt ignition without breaker points . . . unique System of Silence that makes Mercury the quietest outboard you can buy . . . Jet-Prop exhaust to bury sound and fumes deep underwater . . . these are just some of the features that will put you ahead with a Mercury '67.

At Lake X and Sarasota, Florida, at Fond du Lac and Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Mercs are put through the toughest tests Mercury engineers can devise. They run day and night for weeks at full throttle, in both fresh and salt water, over timed, measured distances . . . hit sandbars at 40 MPH to prove shocks . . . plow through saw grass and water hyacinths to test cooling systems. The '67 Mercury you buy has already been proved in years of customer use—squeezed into weeks of intensive tests.

It makes your house look bigger.

Cars are getting to be bigger, so houses are getting to look smaller.

A VW parked in front does big things for your house. And your garage. To say nothing of small parking spots.

On the other hand, a VW does make some things smaller.

Gas bills, for instance. (At 29 mpg, they may be half what you pay now.)

You'll probably never add oil between changes. You'll certainly never need antifreeze. Tires go 40,000 miles. And even insurance costs less.

But there's as much legroom in front of a VW as in the biggest cars.

When you think about it, you really have only two choices:

You can buy a bigger house for who-knows-how-much.

Or a Volkswagen for $1699.90.

Hossack Sees Need For Road Financing Change

State Engineer John Hossack said Thursday that Nebraska's highway system "will actually wear out faster than we can rebuild it" unless the current trend in state road financing is reversed.

Increased revenues from highway user taxes and fees are not keeping pace with soaring prices for equipment, materials and labor, he said, and highway construction progress is becoming more and more difficult.

Hossack spoke at a National Highway Users Conference dinner in Lincoln at which the Department of Roads received the association's Golden Milestone award for its biennial road report.

The award, given every two years for outstanding highway agency reports, cited the 1965-67 Nebraska report as an easily understandable and a concise summary of the state's highway plan.

In his address, Hossack said revenue has climbed about 3% annually due to greater vehicle travel and registrations, but costs for major highway materials have jumped 16 to 20% during the past six months alone.

In addition, he said, land prices have climbed and maintenance costs are at an alltime high.

"I'm not trying to make a case for a change in tax," the state engineer said, "but I do want to point out that these sources of revenue do not have any built-in adjustments to take care of inflationary price increases, and this poses problems."

Hossack said Nebraska has just about reached the point, where under fixed highway revenues, the state will soon fail to make progress in improving its highway system.

"If prices continue to rise and no further provisions are made for additional revenues, we will, in fact, reach a point where our highway system will actually wear out faster than we can rebuild it."

The state engineer declined to recommend any specific revenue changes, but said the answers may be contained in a comprehensive road study being completed by three consulting firms.

Last month, the Legislature's interim roads committee unsuccessfully urged a special session be called for a November constitutional amendment authorizing limited obligation bonds for a stepped-up highway construction effort.

Explosion Blasts Gunpowder Plant

Baraboo, Wis. (UPI) — Eleven persons were injured and production of small arms gunpowder for the Viet Nam war was delayed "for two or three months" Thursday when an explosion and fire ripped through two buildings of the Badger Ordnance Works.

Five were hospitalized and six others were treated at the scene. "It's a miracle we survived," John Karasek, one of those hospitalized, said.

John Troyer, civilian executive assistant at the sprawling plant, said damage would reach at least $500,000. He said the small arms powder assembly line was "wiped out" and it would take two or three months to activate other buildings.

Troyer said he would not "even venture a guess" as to the cause.

Cycle Helmets Wanted

Hamilton, Bermuda (AP)—Bermuda's transport control board is considering making crash helmets compulsory for cyclists, including tourists. The island has reported five road deaths this year in cycle accidents.

Korean Talks Asked By Kim

Tokyo (AP) — Communist North Korea has proposed a conference of the powers involved in the Korean War "for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question."

The North Korean proposal was made in a speech by Vice Premier Kim Kwang Hyup and reported by the Korean Central News Agency monitored in Tokyo.

Addressing a meeting in Pyongyang Thursday night on the 18th anniversary of the Democratic People's Republic, Kim was quoted by KCNA as saying:

"We consider that a conference of states concerned may be convened for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, in which the states interested in the Korean question will be represented."

Bilateralism Earlier

North Korea has for years insisted that the only solution to the Korean question is through bilateral talks between North and South Korea without outside interference.

Kim repeated North Korea's line that U.N. troops must withdraw from Korea and that unification of the country, now divided at the 38th Parallel, should be achieved through north-south general elections without outside interference.

But he did not say the U.N. troops must be pulled out before the international conference is held.

Emphasizes Titoism

Kim stressed several times in his speech that North Korea is following an independent line in foreign policy, an apparent reference to its breakaway from the rigid Communist Chinese line.

His proposal for an international conference may be an outgrowth of this break.

He said the United Nations must revoke "all the unlawful resolutions" on the Korean question "which had been adopted under the pressure of the U.S. and decide upon withdrawing from South Korea the U.S. imperialist aggressor troops and all other foreign troops which are occupying there under the cloak of the U.N. forces and on dissolving at once the U.N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea (UNCURK) fabricated by the United States."

Garage Damaged By Fire; Cause Being Probed

Fire damaged a garage and melted tar on an unoccupied house at 1924 West Q Thursday afternoon, the Lincoln Fire Department said.

Instructors Resign

FRONTIER JET VISITS

Frontier Air Lines president Lewis W. Dymond alights from the carrier's new Boeing 727 "Arrow-Jet," delivered to Frontier Thursday. Dymond and other top airline and Federal Aviation Agency officials landed in Lincoln briefly while on a FAA proving mission. They were greeted by Mrs. Frank Morrison and members of the Lincoln Airport Authority. Pure jet service to the city is expected to be inaugurated in October, according to Frontier. Shown with Dymond as they step down the 96-passenger jet's tail section ramp is stewardess Susie Kutcheit.

LBJ Inks Ag Funds, Won't Expend All

Washington (AP)— President Johnson signed a $6.9-billion farm appropriations bill Thursday but served notice he won't spend that much in view of efforts to "moderate inflationary pressures."

For one thing, he said, Congress added $312.5 million to his original request for the current fiscal year that began July 1. He hastily added this is the legislators' prerogative but he considers it "most unwise" at this time.

"I intend to exercise my authority to control expenditures . . . I will exert such control in an even manner—reducing selectively both those items which the Congress has added to the budget and items which I myself have proposed."

Johnson also objected that a provision in the bill which would automatically bar American food aid to any country engaged in trade or shipping with North Viet Nam. He said it goes far beyond a measured response and would tie the hands of the administration. But he made no suggestion on what he will do about it.

The President objected also to a provision aimed at curbing presidential authority in proposing a financial plan for agricultural research in the budget he will propose next January. He said it "clearly intrudes upon the executive function of preparing the annual budget."

Axe-Swinger Acclaimed As Great Artist—?

"Beautifully despoiled," breathed an art critic as he walked around what was left of a large arm chair.

Ortiz was inclined to agree. What he is after, artistically speaking was a way to awaken man to his destructive possibilities through art, he said Thursday.

"Everyone's home should have a destruction room," the New York born artist said. "Then when the pressure builds up, a man could create something destructive in private."

The 32-year-old Columbia University graduate spoke to a group of somewhat bewildered newsmen about a three-day "destructive art" show starting Friday.

Korean Talks Asked By Kim

Tokyo (AP) — Communist North Korea has proposed a conference of the powers involved in the Korean War "for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question."

The North Korean proposal was made in a speech by Vice Premier Kim Kwang Hyup and reported by the Korean Central News Agency monitored in Tokyo.

Addressing a meeting in Pyongyang Thursday night on the 18th anniversary of the Democratic People's Republic, Kim was quoted by KCNA as saying:

"We consider that a conference of states concerned may be convened for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, in which the states interested in the Korean question will be represented."

Bilateralism Earlier

North Korea has for years insisted that the only solution to the Korean question is through bilateral talks between North and South Korea without outside interference.

Kim repeated North Korea's line that U.N. troops must withdraw from Korea and that unification of the country, now divided at the 38th Parallel, should be achieved through north-south general elections without outside interference.

But he did not say the U.N. troops must be pulled out before the international conference is held.

Emphasizes Titoism

Kim stressed several times in his speech that North Korea is following an independent line in foreign policy, an apparent reference to its breakaway from the rigid Communist Chinese line.

His proposal for an international conference may be an outgrowth of this break.

He said the United Nations must revoke "all the unlawful resolutions" on the Korean question "which had been adopted under the pressure of the U.S. and decide upon withdrawing from South Korea the U.S. imperialist aggressor troops and all other foreign troops which are occupying there under the cloak of the U.N. forces and on dissolving at once the U.N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea (UNCURK) fabricated by the United States."

Garage Damaged By Fire; Cause Being Probed

Fire damaged a garage and melted tar on an unoccupied house at 1924 West Q Thursday afternoon, the Lincoln Fire Department said.

Instructors Resign

LBJ Inks Ag Funds, Won't Expend All

Washington (AP)— President Johnson signed a $6.9-billion farm appropriations bill Thursday but served notice he won't spend that much in view of efforts to "moderate inflationary pressures."

For one thing, he said, Congress added $312.5 million to his original request for the current fiscal year that began July 1. He hastily added this is the legislators' prerogative but he considers it "most unwise" at this time.

Rather than veto the bill and add to the congressional workload by forcing reconsideration, Johnson said:

"I intend to exercise my authority to control expenditures . . . I will exert such control in an even manner—reducing selectively both those items which the Congress has added to the budget and items which I myself have proposed."

Johnson also objected that a provision in the bill which would automatically bar American food aid to any country engaged in trade or shipping with North Viet Nam. He said it goes far beyond a measured response and would tie the hands of the administration. But he made no suggestion on what he will do about it.

The President objected also to a provision aimed at curbing presidential authority in proposing a financial plan for agricultural research in the budget he will propose next January. He said it "clearly intrudes upon the executive function of preparing the annual budget."

Axe-Swinger Acclaimed As Great Artist—?

"Beautifully despoiled," breathed an art critic as he walked around what was left of a large arm chair.

Ortiz was inclined to agree. What he is after, artistically speaking was a way to awaken man to his destructive possibilities through art, he said Thursday.

"Everyone's home should have a destruction room," the New York born artist said. "Then when the pressure builds up, a man could create something destructive in private."

The 32-year-old Columbia University graduate spoke to a group of somewhat bewildered newsmen about a three-day "destructive art" show starting Friday.

Market Curbs Early Losses

New York (AP)—The stock market declined for the fourth straight session Thursday but prices recovered well above their lows when Wall Street apparently got wind of the fact that President Johnson was going to propose some measures to solve the tight money-high interest rate problem.

The market was at its worst around mid-day when the Dow industrials were down to an outsize loss of 10.41 at 766.98—below the closing "bottom" of 767.03 reached in the hectic session of Aug. 29.

Word got out that President Johnson would hold a news conference. The mere fact that he was calling the conference led many Wall Streeters to believe that the President was going to attack the money problem, the biggest cloud on the stock market horizon. After the market close, this turned out to be a fact.

President Johnson proposed a 16-month suspension of the seven per cent tax credit on business investment. Since booming investment has made money tight and interest rates high, it has been presumed by economic spokesmen that a suspension of the tax credit would ease the money problem. They have also talked about a tax increase as having that effect.

Glamor stocks responded most conspicuously—at first to the downtrend, later to the to the downtrend, later to the recovery. At the end, many of these had posted gains of several points.

For the list as a whole, however, losers outnumber gainers by 706 to 468 among the 1,406 issues traded. New lows for the year totaled 244. There were no new highs.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and two were unchanged.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.49 million shares compared with 1.33 million Wednesday. The exchange's index fell $ 06 to $13.14.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were generally higher.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Risk Issues Better Label For Stocks And Bonds

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Economic Fallacies

The mercurial shifts up and down in Wall Street markets recently support the notion that word usage would be improved by calling stocks and bonds risk issues rather than securities.

In a world of hydrogen bombs, moon shots, and rapid scientific advances, it is not downgrading to describe intangibles (stocks and bonds) as risk issues.

Such evidences of ownership and of debt vary in degree of risk, and it is the function of the investor and the speculator to measure risk, select among various hazards, and seek economic survival through such devices as "dollar averaging," diversification, use of professional counsellors, and investment by proxy through professionally supervised "financial packages of convenience," such as closed end and open end investment companies, common trust funds operated by banks and trust companies, and living trusts managed by fiduciary institutions (trust companies and banks.)

The vicissitudes in the direction of lower quotations and distinctly lower price-to-earnings ratios have not only liquidated the market, but have also incidentally exploded some earlier widely circulated economic fallacies.

If the common errors are exposed and understood, then prudent folks can benefit and learn from experience.

Illusory View

Fallacy Number One: Because of structural changes in the financial world, with the advent of big mutual funds, pension funds, and the use of advent of big mutual funds, pension funds, and the use of common stocks as long term investments even by trustees, the wide fluctuations in prices of the historic past have disappeared. This illusory view overlooked the fact that the big professional investors could temporarily adversely affect prices by the simple act of withholding bids.

Although they continue to have incoming funds to invest, the professionals do not automatically follow frozen investment patterns. At times when the fund managers expect an adverse turn in the national economy, they change and reduce the ratio of stocks to total investments in their portfolio. Some funds go into long term, non-callable bonds, including municipal issues, in order to continue for extended periods the benefits of existing abnormally high interest rates.

Fallacy Number 2: In the terms of a once popular song, "it ain't gonna rain no more." In other words, Mama Government, with its new style economic advisers, has learned the secret of an unending boom free from even intermediate slumps. This overlooks the fact that even during the last two decades of post-war boom, there has been a series of recessions. The lessons of history indicate that, even in dynamic and growing America, the national economy occasionally takes a step backwards before taking two steps forward.

Fallacy Number 3: If you limit your purchases to the blue chips, you are safe. The annals of American finance, however, disclose that even the prime stocks respond to psychological changes in the index of confidence, to shifts in interest rates, and to expectations of fluctuations in profit. The stock market has never been a one way street.

No Guarantee

Fallacy Number 4: If you get a good investment counsellor, or a competent trustee, or participate in a well managed investment company, you are assured of constructive results. This column's mailbag has been replete with inquiries from those who assumed that achieving investment goals would be automatic, like putting a cent into a vending machine and getting out a slice of gum. The truth is that even the ablest investment pros can only offer to give clients the benefit of their best judgment.

Fallacy Number 5: After a periodic shakeout, innocent lambs swear off from market participation. This overlooks the fact that good companies with excellent survival prospects and an unusual propensity for growth may be more attractive rather than less after the market has fallen out of bed. The late Jacob H. Schiff, eminent investment banker and philanthropist, used to say: "I never want to buy at the bottom or sell at the top." The financier realized that only one sale takes place at the bottom and only one at the top.

Fallacy Number 6: The belief that some well informed insider knows exactly when the market turning points will come. This is based on the cynical assumption that all markets are rigged. Broad markets involve too much money for any one individual or group to manipulate at will. The wise operators have a sense of agnosticism, knowing the limitations of their own judgment. Hence they hedge, and take balanced positions.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers with stamped self-addressed envelopes concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Market Curbs Early Losses

New York (AP)—The stock market declined for the fourth straight session Thursday but prices recovered well above their lows when Wall Street apparently got wind of the fact that President Johnson was going to propose some measures to solve the tight money-high interest rate problem.

The market was at its worst around mid-day when the Dow industrials were down to an outsize loss of 10.41 at 766.98—below the closing "bottom" of 767.03 reached in the hectic session of Aug. 29.

Word got out that President Johnson would hold a news conference. The mere fact that he was calling the conference led many Wall Streeters to believe that the President was going to attack the money problem, the biggest cloud on the stock market horizon. After the market close, this turned out to be a fact.

President Johnson proposed a 16-month suspension of the seven per cent tax credit on business investment. Since booming investment has made money tight and interest rates high, it has been presumed by economic spokesmen that a suspension of the tax credit would ease the money problem. They have also talked about a tax increase as having that effect.

Glamor stocks responded most conspiciously—at first to the downtrend, later to the to the downtrend, later to the recovery. At the end, many of these had posted gains of several points.

For the list as a whole, however, losers outnumber gainers by 706 to 468 among the 1,406 issues traded. New lows for the year totaled 244. There were no new highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell .6 to 279.6 with industrials off 1.1, rails unchanged and utilities off .5.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and two were unchanged.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.49 million shares compared with 1.33 million Wednesday. The exchange's index fell $.06 to $13.14.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were generally higher.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Risk Issues Better Label For Stocks And Bonds

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Economic Fallacies

The mercurial shifts up and down in Wall Street markets recently support the notion that word usage would be improved by calling stocks and bonds risk issues rather than securities.

In a world of hydrogen bombs, moon shots, and rapid scientific advances, it is not downgrading to describe intangibles (stocks and bonds) as risk issues.

Such evidences of ownership and of debt vary in degree of risk, and it is the function of the investor and the speculator to measure risk, select among various hazards, and seek economic survival through such devices as "dollar averaging," diversification, use of professional counsellors, and investment by proxy through professionally supervised "financial packages of convenience," such as closed end and open end investment companies, common trust funds operated by banks and trust companies, and living trusts managed by fiduciary institutions (trust companies and banks.)

The vicissitudes in the direction of lower quotations and distinctly lower price-to-earnings ratios have not only liquidated the market, but have also incidentally exploded some earlier widely circulated economic fallacies.

If the common errors are exposed and understood, then prudent folks can benefit and learn from experience.

Illusory View

Fallacy Number One: Because of structural changes in the financial world, with the advent of big mutual funds, pension funds, and the use of advent of big mutual funds, pension funds, and the use of common stocks as long term investments even by trustees, the wide fluctuations in prices of the historic past have disappeared. This illusory view overlooked the fact that the big professional investors could temporarily adversely affect prices by the simple act of withholding bids.

Although they continue to have incoming funds to invest, the professionals do not automatically follow frozen investment patterns. At times when the fund managers expect an adverse turn in the national economy, they change and reduce the ratio of stocks to total investments in their portfolio. Some funds go into long term, non-callable bonds, including municipal issues, in order to continue for extended periods the benefits of existing abnormally high interest rates.

Fallacy Number 2: In the terms of a once popular song, "it ain't gonna rain no more." In other words, Mama Government, with its new style economic advisers, has learned the secret of an unending boom free from even intermediate slumps. This overlooks the fact that even during the last two decades of post-war boom, there has been a series of recessions. The lessons of history indicate that, even in dynamic and growing America, the national economy occasionally takes a step backwards before taking two steps forward.

Fallacy Number 3: If you limit your purchases to the blue chips, you are safe. The annals of American finance, however, disclose that even the prime stocks respond to psychological changes in the index of confidence, to shifts in interest rates, and to expectations of fluctuations in profit. The stock market has never been a one way street.

No Guarantee

Fallacy Number 4: If you get a good investment counsellor, or a competent trustee, or participate in a well managed investment company, you are assured of constructive results. This column's mailbag has been replete with inquiries from those who assumed that achieving investment goals would be automatic, like putting a cent into a vending machine and getting out a slice of gum. The truth is that even the ablest investment pros can only offer to give clients the benefit of their best judgment.

Fallacy Number 5: After a periodic shakeout, innocent lambs swear off from market participation. This overlooks the fact that good companies with excellent survival prospects and an unusual propensity for growth may be more attractive rather than less after the market has fallen out of bed. The late Jacob H. Schiff, eminent investment banker and philanthropist, used to say: "I never want to buy at the bottom or sell at the top." The financier realized that only one sale takes place at the bottom and only one at the top.

Fallacy Number 6: The belief that some well informed insider knows exactly when the market turning points will come. This is based on the cynical assumption that all markets are rigged. Broad markets involve too much money for any one individual or group to manipulate at will. The wise operators have a sense of agnosticism, knowing the limitations of their own judgment. Hence they hedge, and take balanced positions.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers with stamped self-addressed envelopes concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Milford's Lonesome Charlie Gets A Non-Ticklish Girl Friend

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Actually, Lonesome Charlie had been out before.

A former Lincoln School of Commerce student, now an underwriting typist at State Farm Insurance Co., the attractive Wisner High School graduate complained good-naturedly, "I got whiskers in my mouth."

Charlie, clad in a red knit shirt with "Lonesome Charlie" lettered across it in white, proclaimed, "The contestants were all very good, and I'm happy with the decision of the judges."

But the pair had its first tiff when the 27-year-old druggist said he planned to drive his pickup and wear his overalls for Centennial appearances.

Other finalists in the running to become Charlie's girl were Margaret Ann Stahly of Wayne, Marty Sampson of Lincoln, Noelle Hruza of Milford and Gladys McGuire of Crete.

The former state senator from Grand Island headed the panel that included contest instigator H. L. (Pete) Petersen of Milford, Seward County Judge Fred Bruns of Seward, Willis Wilson of the Lincoln Job Crops Center, and Bill Andersen of Ord.

"Judy will accompany Charlie to all Nebraska Centennial functions to which he's invited," said Petersen, who had once threatened to sue the Centennial Commission if a girl friend were not provided for the patriotic bachelor.

Charlie, recounting experiences since he grew the whiskers more than two years ago for the Milford Centennial (he's been taken for a protest marcher and a religious eccentric), has promised to retain the 10-inch crop until the end of the state's 100th anniversary year.

Centennial Commission Director Don Shriner also attended the social event and presented admiralships in the Nebraska Navy to Andersen, Al Havener, Larry Cook and Wes Moser for their work on the navy's raft which recently completed a promotional trip from Omaha to New Orleans.

Milford's Lonesome Charlie Gets A Non-Ticklish Girl Friend

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Milford — Milford society turned out Thursday night for the coming out party of the town's most eligible bachelor.

Actually, Lonesome Charlie had been out before.

Judy Eggers, 22, claimed she wasn't ticklish, but giggled nonetheless as she planted an official kiss smack in the middle of the ruddy foliage.

A former Lincoln School of Commerce student, now an underwriting typist at State Farm Insurance Co., the attractive Wisner High School graduate complained good-naturedly, "I got whiskers in my mouth."

Charlie, clad in a red knit shirt with "Lonesome Charlie" lettered across it in white, proclaimed, "The contestants were all very good, and I'm happy with the decision of the judges."

But the pair had its first tiff when the 27-year-old druggist said he planned to drive his pickup and wear his overalls for Centennial appearances.

"I don't care for overalls," countered Judy.

Other finalists in the running to become Charlie's girl were Margaret Ann Stahly of Wayne, Marty Sampson of Lincoln, Noelle Hruza of Milford and Gladys McGuire of Crete.

Each told her qualifications, then paraded—Atlantic City boardwalk-style—before the judges to be scrutinized by Marvin Lautenschlager, who sat in judgment with a pair of field glasses, top hat, tails and long cigar.

The former state senator from Grand Island headed the panel that included contest instigator H. L. (Pete) Petersen of Milford, Seward County Judge Fred Bruns of Seward, Willis Wilson of the Lincoln Job Crops Center, and Bill Andersen of Ord.

"Judy will accompany Charlie to all Nebraska Centennial functions to which he's invited," said Petersen, who had once threatened to sue the Centennial Commission if a girl friend were not provided for the patriotic bachelor.

Charlie, recounting experiences since he grew the whiskers more than two years ago for the Milford Centennial (he's been taken for a protest marcher and a religious eccentric), has promised to retain the 10-inch crop until the end of the state's 100th anniversary year.

Centennial Commission Director Don Shriner also attended the social event and presented admiralships in the Nebraska Navy to Andersen, Al Havener, Larry Cook and Wes Moser for their work on the navy's raft which recently completed a promotional trip from Omaha to New Orleans.

Callan Labeled Double Rubber Stamp For LBJ

He said Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., has rubber stamped every major and nearly all minor legislation President Johnson took a stand on.

Car Sales Up 70%

Lisbon—Nearly 34,000 automobiles were sold last year in Portugal—a 70% increase over 1964. The top sellers were German, English and Italian makes.

Callan Labeled Double Rubber Stamp For LBJ

He said Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., has rubber stamped every major and nearly all minor legislation President Johnson took a stand on.

Car Sales Up 70%

Lisbon—Nearly 34,000 automobiles were sold last year in Portugal—a 70% increase over 1964. The top sellers were German, English and Italian makes.
